day 5

i have a major problem now, my k9 filter interferes with the antivirus, and the host file which k9 copies in the system32 folder is considered a trojan for the antivirus, i tried to uninstall and reinstall, no help what antivirus are you using? i find that k9 behaves well with MSE and Symantec Endpoint Protection.

I could not get K9 to work with Eset but it is great with Avira and Zone Alarm. You can also get OpenDNS and use their filter for porn and videos etc.

Shmeichel,

I have no doubt about your ability to do this. Put the fall behind you and move on like it never happened. Like you were before. Only a little wiser.

I had trouble with K9 and ESET too. I ditched ESET and I use MSE now at home. It's just as good as any of the commercial packages and it's free!

Hello, just dropping by.

Just noticed now that you're starting a new clean streak. Glad to see you just picked up and started over again.

I had a couple of falls after long stretches of clean time (7 months each). After each fall I just tried to figure out what my mistake was, and then I tried not to make that same mistake again; I turned up my recovery another notch or two and kept on going.
