

Need Direction To WebSite

Posted by SoHard,YetSoRewarding - 27 Aug 2009 04:09

Can anyone please be so kind and direct me to a website that discusses the Halachos of what is permitted/forbidden to recite (Shema, Hashem's name, etc.) after relations?

=====
=====

Re: Need Direction To WebSite

Posted by Efshar Letaken - 27 Aug 2009 04:19

Try jewishsexuality.com I think think that's the web address & they should have info on that.

As far as I know you should try to say Krias Shma B4 but if you didn't you still have to say it yes with Hashems name.

=====
=====

Re: Need Direction To WebSite

Posted by SoHard,YetSoRewarding - 27 Aug 2009 04:32

Yes, indeed!

Thanks alot, E.L.

=====
=====

Re: Need Direction To WebSite

Posted by the.guard - 27 Aug 2009 18:56

what is permitted/forbidden to recite (Shema, Hashem's name, etc.) after relations?

What do you mean? As long as you wash your hands, everything is permitted...

Although Chassidim try to go to the Mikva, we don't pasken anymore today that one should not daven before mikva. We hold that "divrei torah ainum mekablin tumah - words of Torah and prayer to not recieve impurity"

Hope this helped.

=====
=====

Re: Need Direction To WebSite

Posted by levite - 30 Aug 2009 00:22

hi im not sure you are right as long as your soiled with emmisions it has a din like excrement and it is forbidden to say any dovor shbikdishah unless u wash urself

=====
=====

Re: Need Direction To WebSite

Posted by jerusalemsexaddict - 30 Aug 2009 07:37

im sorry people but dont u think this is a little insensitive?

there are a significant amount of single men and women on this site who would love love love to worry about these halachos.you guys have this outlet while we are just told to hold ourselves 100% completely clean and wait a few years.

not fair!!!

frustrated-uri

=====
=====

Re: Need Direction To WebSite

Posted by the.guard - 30 Aug 2009 08:13

Uri, it's the Bochorim who are actually lucky. "The less you feed it, the less you need it". This is the real- real truth, not just a saying. A Bochur, with a little hard-work in the beginning, can learn to completely let go of lust to the point that he just forgets about it, while a married man has to keep walking a tight-rope of balance!

=====

Re: Need Direction To WebSite

Posted by kanesher - 30 Aug 2009 21:28

Uri,

I wish I would have dealt with this head on when I was a bachur! Do you know what kind of damage this wrecks in a marriage? I'm not going to get into details - do you know how difficult it is to appreciate a Bas Yisrael when she's competing with sdom v'amorah? And don't you think she feels that - and creates a horrid cycle.

You are the lucky one; IY"H b'ito u'bzmano you will be able to start with a fresh start with your wife ; not have to rebuild like the rest of us. And B"H rebuild we are - but what a bracha to meet a kallah b'kedusha u'b'tahara! (And of course, we can't reiterate enough - marriage will not cure any of this! Doesn't matter who you marry! No way Jose!)

I am sure the married chevra agree.

Chazak V'Ematz! And I"YH you will be paid back 100 times more in your married life for all of you difficulties now.

As far as insensitivity, Rabbenu Guard, Uri has a point, us married chevra do use this forum for posting about shaalos about marital intimacy; while some is obviously going to be in our post and shouldn't be avoided because it's so part and parcel of our issues - specific issues as here - such as permitted acts , hanhagos, niddah issues - perhaps should have a separate board or section, so that our dear bachurim don't have to read them if they want to avoid them, just as there is a separate board for women's issues for we who would like to avoid them?

=====

Re: Need Direction To WebSite

Posted by the.guard - 31 Aug 2009 10:40

Kaneshar and Uri, I hear you... I don't know if these kind of issues come up enough to warrant a board of its own, and if I did make one, the Bochorim addicts would probably feel compelled to

=====

=====

Re: Need Direction To WebSite

Posted by jerusalemsexaddict - 31 Aug 2009 18:32

check it out anyway guard you know us too well!

=====

=====

lol