

To look at the ground, or not?

Posted by SoHard,YetSoRewarding - 16 Sep 2009 04:46

I've debated this with myself quite a few times:

When in the street or in public places -- should I look to the ground and not see anything at all, but risk firing up my yetzer if and when I inevitably WILL see something? Or should I rather look straight ahead but not focus on the women?

=====

=====

Re: To look at the ground, or not?

Posted by bardichev - 16 Sep 2009 21:26

RATATATAM

HERE IS EX-NYER

ALWAYS NEWYAWKIH

MOVE FAST AND KEEP BUSY

=====

=====

Re: To look at the ground, or not?

Posted by Efshar Letaken - 16 Sep 2009 23:31

Please Read "Windows To The Soul Handbook" its on the GYE home page.

When you read it & apply it to yourself you will see wonders.

I'm far from there yet but but but....

I tested it & its AMAZING!

When you put it to practice its one of the greatest feelings you can imagine.

You will feel the power of holiness upon you.

its work of a life time but definitely pays off!

=====

Re: To look at the ground, or not?

Posted by Efshar Letaken - 16 Sep 2009 23:34

RATM,

Be Ah Maan! Yo Can Do It!

Show Yourself Who's In Control!

=====

Re: To look at the ground, or not?

Posted by BruceWayne - 16 Sep 2009 23:42

The funny thing is I developed my habit of looking down to avoid walking on the filth in the street. Dog poop, used prophylactics.....

I hate this city.

=====

Re: To look at the ground, or not?

Posted by habib613 - 16 Sep 2009 23:52

BruceWayne wrote on 16 Sep 2009 23:42:

I hate this city.

'nuff said.

=====