

Open Journal

Posted by Tomim2B - 23 Sep 2009 20:00

In an attempt to add to the luster I'm opening up this thread where we can all contribute our thoughts, ideas, perspectives and attitudes in a setting carrying the tone of more serious discussion.

This is an open journal, and everyone is invited to post in this thread; no exceptions!

Learning From Past Experiences

Yankel appeared in Shul one day with both his ears heavily bandaged. "I was ironing a shirt when the phone rang," he sheepishly explained. "That explains one ear," blurted a fellow congregant, "But what about the other?" "My luck," came the reply, "the guy decided to call back.".

My Wife, She's Got a Problem.

There was a man who was talking over his concerns with his family doctor, "Doc, I think my wife is going deaf."

The doctor answered, "Well, try this when you go home so you can test her hearing. Ask her a question from some distance away. If she doesn't answer, move a little closer and ask again. Repeat this until she answers, then you will be able to tell just how hard of hearing she really is."

The man went home and did what the doctor said. He walked in the door and called out, "Honey, I'm home. What's for dinner?" He didn't hear any answer. He moved closer to her, "Honey, I'm home. What's for dinner?". Still no answer.

Again and again he repeated this until finally he was standing right in front of her, "Honey, I'm home. What's for dinner?".

"For the tenth time," she screamed, "We're having POTROAST!".
