I saw that...

And you want us to grow up thinking something of ourselves...

Wow I am amazed how many people are on the website on a daily basis. Granted, most of the poeple are on the sidelines, but I remember not too long ago when there maybe 125 people on the sidelines on a consistant basis and now there are 175! Kedusha or whoever is doing the advertising on their own cheshbon should not overlook what they have done to insure that we get new members and onlookers. Thank you Kedusha for your efforts!

Seriously - take your time, don't feel pressured...but realize that being part of this forum is an incredible way to get chizuk, and become a better person in every way...to know that there are people supporting you, who care about you, and share in your simcha as you grow. And as KG said, you'll be mechazek everyone here, too, as we watch you grow!

And you will grow. That's pretty much a given.
