Posted by forhashem613 - 23 Apr 2013 01:13

i am starting this journey with little knowledge of what i am up against... i never even imagined that there would be withdrawals!!!

when i felt them i didnt know what was wrong with me, and they just got werse and werse.

has anyone been able to overcome this??

how did you do it?

even if i were to hold out it feels like i would lose my mind...i know that i wont actually lose my mind but, how can i go through my normal day with such a burden??

Withdrawal is normal. It will subside over time.
