

Tryin'

Posted by cordnoy - 23 Jun 2013 09:41

Shalom

I am in my 40s married with children

Recently, I decided to get help on a serious level with my addiction .

My mind wanders and the tayva builds.

It would be easy to blame this on the lack of excitement in marriage intimacy, but I had done this at times before marriage, and at times, when marriage bedroom was good, I'd still fall. Perhaps it still is the reason, but marriage stuff is probably not gettin' better anytime soon.

I have more to write, but as this is my first post, id like to hear some suggestions first please.

Thank you so much

C

I used to think that all addicts are born with their addiction. I don't believe that to be true anymore. I do believe that some are like that, but I also think that addiction can develop with life circumstances. I know guys who have been masturbating since they were 3,4,5 years old. Personally, I have been having sexual dreams and getting erections since somewhere between the ages of 3 and 5. But not everyone is like that. I went to an addiction therapist for a short time and he said that there are 3 levels, 1) User 2) Abuser 3) Addict. I suspect that there are many "abusers" in 12-step.

Any idea how you differentiate between 2) and 3)?

An abuser is using more than he should, and it's affecting his life. But he's not losing his life to his substance. His life isn't completely unmanageable. But the addict is losing his life to his substance. His life is unmanageable and he's consistently going against his own will. It's similar to the 3 phases of drink 1) Man drinks drink 2) Drink drinks drink 3) Drink drinks man.

Ribbon shel Olam, I offer myself to You - to build (?) with me and to do with me (my family as well?) as You will (You're actually doin' that anyway). Relieve me (please) of the bondage of self, that I may better do Your will (for that would go a long way). Take away my difficulties (ok; just some of 'em maybe), that victory over them....yada, yada, yada....take 'em away please, for I want 'em away.

Ya' see...the difficulties referenced here in this prayer is ego, vengeance, self-centeredness (?), haughtiness and others. I davened for my difficulties with son a and c and the wife - that's it for now.

wasn't going to say anything but i can't agree to singer here maybe this is just how you post and if so ignore me but....

CORDS sounds like he is giving up and screaming for help is this the way we should be davening to HASHEM FOR HELP no wonder things are going hard it doesn't sound like we are serious that we need help.....

tell me if i missed the boat...

Hashem loves all of us and the ones with BIG problems he loves even more

I see it as a brutally honest prayer. basic text of what one would see in the siddur, with parentheses of what our actual thoughts are (if we think during davening). And Hashem wants honesty. mid'var Sheker tirschak. In your mind as well.

Or I may be wrong. See, cords, I told you I winged my pshat that other time.

i think what deturbs me most is the yada yada yada part probably just the way cords posts ut hope that it's nt the way he feels and prays....otherwise agreed that it is a brutally honest prayer

sorry if i'm so picky

It's called honesty durin' a prayer.

Actually recitin' this prayer with meanin' is a step thatl allows one/me not to give up.
