What's your take?

Totally unrelated I'm just curious (and I just asked my sister about it, she didn't know...) what is the source of that "covering the knee" Halacha?

Probably "Shok b'eisha ervah" Berachos 24a. See Mishna Brura [75:1:2]

Here's my (unconventional) take: You're mad? Good! Take that madness and let that motivate you to do whatever you can to make sure you're children won't be mad at you! (they'll probably be mad at you anyway, but that's life...) Educate yourself, educate others, make a committee!...

As for the actual issue of whether or not to say and when, I believe that there are so many variables that can affect the outcome either way that we cannot just give a "psak" on this and say "this is the way it should be done", until we have real data that can give a more accurate picture of the outcome of each approach, tested in various environments, it is up to each parent to evaluate the variables that affect these decisions, i.e. the nature of the child, the environment of the child, and to very carefully evaluate the pros and cons of each approach, in addition of course to consulting with a rov/rosh yeshiva WHO IS KNOWLEDGEABLE in the area of the chinuch of children.

Obviously, this is in addition to all that was said here about forgiveness, etc. especially erev yom kipur.

Lots of hatzlocho with everthing!

Doesn't shok mean below the knee up until the knee?

I don't think so. It wouldn't make sense in this context. Did you see the Mishna Brura? I think there is discussion about it regarding the din of 'chazeh' and 'shok', but I'm not sure where it is at the moment.

Reminds me of

Maybe we could add a couple pages...

EYES

THIGHS

~~Eyes on thighs~~

GUARD

EYES

Eyes off thighs

DAD

MAD

Mad at Dad

EYES

GUARD

Make God glad

Make lad glad

Make dad glad

Is that "Hop On Pop"? That was my kid's favorite book (their favorite activity too).
