i dont think he's talking about you, me3...hes thinking certifiable, crazy, "im gonna come to your house and cut up all your kids" insanity...he's talking about ratm (you know, people who refer to themselves in 3rd person)...

maybe we need a new thread for this...

anyway, chizkiyahu, if you want i'm at @yahoo.com....good luck on your journey...stay strong...dont give in to the world...keep posting...

It leaves an opening for them to be contacted privately by ANYBODY.

I don't understand... So what if Mr.Spammer contacts Yiddle2@gmail.com? They won't know who he is, and Yiddle will just trash it...

Maybe some whacko will impersonate 7up :o :o :o

Don't worry about what I post. I am paranoid, so it does not have to make sense!

I just post whats on my mind, for better or for worse.

That said, I'll elaborate :D

The people on this site either have a weakness for humor, or for lust.

There are perhaps people out there who actually relish this type of stuff (not the humor part, not worried about that) and relish pulling others down.

(Yes, of course, yechida, their pintele yid is untouched and clean, but they our not aware of that yet)

How they would 'attack' one of our warriors, I don't know. I don't try to use my imagination in that direction.

But it seems to me like a possibility.

And whenever I have to make a decision, I try to judge whats the possible gain, and the possible loss.

Here, I don't see any gain at all...

What less effective is it to find a PM in your email inbox, than a regular email?

But PM's can only be sent by registered users of our site, which makes it a little safer. Anyone plays games (like accusing Guard of not being an anav) and they are bumped from the site. Forever.

So I see no gain, and a possible (even if its a paranoid, once in a lifetime type of occurrence) loss... so why do it?

You see no gain??? Like I wrote before: "We need to get in touch on a personal level with other people who are struggling, and stay in touch daily..." and the chatting is an awesome way to "get out of yourself" when feeling lust... This gain is HUGE, and it way out-weighs a possible "one in a lifetime occurrence" - as you wrote.

So I will have to humbly disagree. (And if you think I am not humble, watch out! >

Contact me at paranoid@gmail.com

Guard, you are the boss.

about being humble, I'm not in a position to know. I would have no idea anyway.

But if you say you are, we will definitely believe you.

Especially since you're the boss.

Chas v'shalom Kutan!

I too am paranoid and definitely hear your concerns loud and clear.

Lets daven we are wrong, and not be proven otherwise.

We're talking lives here

Sorry, 7up.

But I don't think I'm wrong either.

I'm just deferring to Guard out of respect for him.

(and also because he runs the site :D)

I hear his point... and I now realize that yahoo etc email addresses are better than going through this forum, since there is the ability to chat in yahoo.

I just think that these benefits will happen by default... once people get used to each other on the forum, and comfortable with someone else, they may naturally exchange emails or phone numbers by PM with each other. There still is a danger, of course, but that is not the forum's responsibility... that is simply a hazard that comes with the internet, its part of the game. Sorta like the possibility of being eaten by a lion when going on safari.

But to promote people just openly sporting their email addresses (even anon. ones) on line for all to see, seems to me like going on safari in middle of the night. Alone. Gives me the shudders just to think about it.
