Two girls decided to go otd.

They went to McDonald's and ordered cheeseburgers.

One started eating, and the other made a brachah first.

The first said, "hey, we are otd!"

The second apologized and began saying Boruch sheim....

Reminds me of the guy who decided to go so frei, he started drinking his negel vasser.

Perfect?

Once upon a time, a perfect man and a perfect woman met. After a perfect courtship, they had a perfect wedding at the Hilton. Their life together was, of course, perfect. One snowy, stormy Christmas Eve, this perfect couple was driving their perfect car (a Lexus) along a winding road, when they noticed someone at the side of the road in distress. Being the perfect couple, they stopped to help. To their surprise, there stood Santa Claus with a huge bundle of toys. Although Jewish, they did not want to disappoint any children on the eve of Christmas, no matter what their religion. So the perfect couple loaded Santa and his toys into their car and soon they were driving along delivering toys.

Unfortunately, the driving conditions deteriorated and the perfect couple and Santa Claus had a bad accident. Only one of them survived the accident.

The mind-numbing question is: Who was the survivor?

Scroll down for the answer...

The perfect woman survived. She's the only one who really existed in the first place. Everyone knows there is no Santa Claus and there is no such thing as a perfect man.

Women: stop reading here. This is the end of the joke.

Men: keep on scrolling...

So, if there is no perfect man and no Santa Claus, the perfect woman must have been driving.
And that explains why there was a car accident.

By the way, if you're a woman and you're reading this, this illustrates another point: Women never listen

Rav hutner says: yehudah's malchus was concealed, as we see from his interaction with Yosef and story with tamar. Yosef's malchus was in open as we see in mitzrayim and his interaction with brothers.

If so, how come it is reversed in the future where yehudah is in open and yosef is concealed?

I heard as follows: Yosef is midas hayesod which is zachar. Yehudah is nekeivah, the keli machzik brachah.

By inception, the zachar is in the open; the female is concealed as she is mazria inside. Yet, after conception, the mother is in the open and the father is concealed.

In the establishing of klal yisroel, Yosef was in open and yehudah was concealed, but once it has been established already, Yosef was hidden and yehudah was binigleh.

May we be zoche to see both malchus revealed with the coming of mashiach tzidkeinu bimheirah, and may the kevod shamayim be at its fullest.

Shovavim 5776 - Next week we start the weeks of shovavim which are characterized of being a special time for Tikun habrit. And especially this year that has two months of Adar. Some basics to keep in mind for those of us who would like to fix the bad and enhance good habits are , watching our eyes from viewing the improper. By not feeding our eyes improper and mundane images , all our limbs get to be sanctified and our souls sore to new heights and doing what is proper becomes easier.

In addition we should keep our minds clean from improper thoughts which is a ramification of watching our eyes, that is our physical and mental eyes. By guarding what we think and keeping our thoughts clean we then reach such a state of purity that we are pulled body and soul like a magnet towards doing Torah and Mitzvos. Thirdly ,praying to G.od to help us with the above habits of kedusha and asking Him that if G.od forbid at some time we could not keep them , the improper look should not leave an impression in our minds.

May we be strengthened in these upcoming days of shovavim to leave our old bad habits and to enter a new era in our lives. May we add kedusha in the hearts of klal yisrael. Keep On Trucking guys we are worth it !

I want you to announce here to all of us on this forum that you are accepting upon yourself now, at the beginning of Shovavim 5769, that no matter what happens, and no matter how many more times it takes, and no matter how embarrassing it feels to admit you fell, you will not give up and you will not let go of us as long as we are here for you.

When Yaakov took away the malchus from Reuven, the brothers were wondering who was going to receive it, and the logical assumption would have been Yosef who was the bechor from Rochel, and had already been given a double portion in having 2 of his sons be shevatim of their own, and was already a melech. Instead Yehuda was given the malchus for all eternity.

Both Yosef and Yehuda had zechusim that brought them to malchus, although Yehuda's was greater. What were these zechusim?

Yosef was tempted by Potiphar's wife - and overcame the temptation. For this he was blessed with malchus. Yehuda was tempted by Tamar, and although we can't relate to the shivtei kah, the Torah says he succumbed - whatever that means. But after that Yehuda picked himself up, and KOT! For that he was given malchus for all eternity.

There are tzadikei oilam who never fall, there are nebach tzadikim who fall and don't recover, and then there are tzadikim who fall but pick themselves up and keep fighting. If I can't be in the first category, I know which of the other two I want to aim for. Halevai.

Parshas Boi/Bow(down)/Bow(tie)/Bei(fun der litte)

Cordnoy in signature wrote:

"If one gives up at the first sign of a struggle, he is really not ready to be successful."

There may be a lesson to this we can learn from the past Parsha

The YH is symbolized by Paroah

Moshe came to this YH with one 'tool', and after 7 days, oops - that didn't work - we didn't gain redemption...

So, he went on to the next makka...

Warning: Spoiler!

We should not give up, ever - not Today!

But don't fool yourself thinking that after leaving Egypt, and "passing 90 days", the YH is dead, sorry if I disappoint anyone. Mine is alive and kicking...

Good voch guys

Keepin' myself busy tonight, so hopefully stayin' out of trouble, but I feel like I have to join in the fun. First off, props to Markz for comin' up with this amazin' idea, it's definitely great to have somethin' to do if we would otherwise have nothin'. (As an aside, why is the letter 'g' taboo around these here boards? Followin' what everyone else's doin', but not sure why...) I don't have any specific Joke or Vort to add here, but stopping by anyways. Oh, and since I'm a).

Does anyone have any idea what he's talkin' about?

Who doesn't use the letter "G" around here?
