yes, hi. believe it or not, i am he. sadly, since our last conversation, i have developed multiple personalities, and therefore post under the names peloni almoni, markz, unananumunmunmunn (something like that), gibbor, and chesed shebemalchus. i often "come to" and find myself dressed in cordoruys, drinking coffee, and talking in a strong chicago accent. unfortunately, one of my more colorful personalities' also took a weird turn in his sexual recovery. he (should i say i?) developed sexual feelings for the bird on the froot loops box. weird huh? and another one i suspect was getting it on with a giraffe! and whenever i try to think if this is real or not, the song yom zeh mechubad comes to my mind! but this is not nearly as bad as this - two of my personalites developed some cold animosity towards each other. one of them, who incidentally is addicted to all varieties of corn, calls this other personality "mom", when his real name is like ... calmness, or tranquility or something ... can't remember. it's like his big thing among the other personalities, he takes polls and stuff. i know he doesnt really dislike mom, but ... whatever. anyways, awesome talking to me. anyone seen me around?

I have not seen any posts from Shmeichel for a long time. Does anyone know why?

I miss him. I tried contacting him by e-mail but did not receive a response.

He did reply to an email or two from me. (I think it worked by fighting with him a bit) ...he says he's fighting the battle.

I told him we miss him but I didn't get a response.

After all the corny joking around:) , I have news for you guys, I was in touch with our dear friend Shmeichel about a "fortnight" ago by email, he's doing well but has cut back on internet access and only has email, he sends regards to all.

Whoever wants his email contact should PM me, I'll ask him if I can give it out.
