

about to visit a massage parlor

hi guys, i don't want to post in my old forum because no one will read it so I am posting a new post to get your attention okay so basically 10 minutes ago i was going to go to a massage parlor to get a "massage" plus a bit more...I am really struggling with this issue. What deterred me was the money ($100/hr) dont get me wring, im a college student and I am make no money at all so this was a tough choice for me. I knew I could buy plenty of stuff for that amount of money that are valuable (sefarim, clothing, gifts, tzedakah) and yet I was really gonna go.

You know how I stopped myself? Guess?

I masturbated...once one is done with that, he is totally shut off and not interested in women for a bit...im sure u know what i mean

SOOO, thats really messed up...I need help with this prostitute issue..it will leak into my marriage, right? Besides the fact that it costs a whole lot of money...someone please help me and if someone with experience has gone thru this, please please please private message me.

cordnoy did NOT say most or probably any of this

Simon - youre in a challenging situation that if I was in your shoes I may just move my bed to the parlor, to save me time and p'haps money. Why not? sex 24hr non stop

Other people may have stronger will power than me, but if I was in college like yours, I could very likely land up doing just that

AM I CRAZY???

Firstly - yes

Secondly - allow me to explain

I have a job in a regular company paying in the range of $60k+ / yr, and BH I could soon easily get promoted to a salary of $100+ a year

This is without any college education zilch - and no college degree either

Warning: Spoiler!

If I'd want any college degrees I would join a men's only college or get all my diplomas online

There may be one or two prestigious jobs I may miss for not actually attending a mixed gender campus - but...

Now, I have not done much research - I have some hearsay, and some speculation too, that the accepted norm in a campus is sexual acts, and one that desists from such is a rare case.

I'm here on gye to gain sobriety, and thank Gd I achieved that with unique tools as mentioned in my story

If you want to succeed, here's my advice - draft your unique recovery road

Picture the portrait of your true sobriety

If it's defined by leaving the campus, then it's something worth considering. If money and fame are more important and a life of marriage and affairs like tiger woods is the rainbow you're envisioning, then by all means...

My friend, the problem isnt the campus. I have been going to college for a long time and it's easy to avoid the goyim there even though maybe ask for my number and want to meet up at their house. This is a psychological issue that I feel I am dealing with; where I ENJOY meeting with prostitutes and that there is a certain thrill that comes out of doing such. That is my issue. This is my problem and it may be more complex than most people. IF I want pleasure, I can easily hook up with the cute, blonde, 22 year old girl with yoga pants in my class...that's not the problem.

Do you hear where I am getting at?

It sounds like regular sexaholism to me. As the White Book of SA puts it "We were addicted to the intrigue, the tease, the forbidden."

I mean absolutely no disrespect to anyone here when I say not everyone on GYE is a sexaholic. I don't know if you are either, that's something you'd have to decide for yourself. But, since not everyone is dealing with the same issue here, not everything that works for one person will necessarily work for another. If you want, you can find more information about SA in the last link in my signature.

And thinking that our issue is unique is exactly what feeds the addiction even further.

In SA I have heard many times that we all suffer from chronic uniqueness.

That is very true...I am just not sure if visiting a psychologist or going through the 12 step process would be more effective
