

Apology

Posted by the.guard - 18 Nov 2009 18:20

Some of you may have noticed I've been answering less e-mails lately, and posting less on the forum and the daily chizuk e-mails are coming later than usual. I'm really sorry about it, my e-mail sending program (constantcontact) has been making me a lot of trouble lately and I can't write the chizuk e-mails. It keeps jamming on me, and pages not loading, etc... I've been on the phone with tech-support for hours... I had to go to a relative to send the e-mails the last few days... I hope this gets resolved soon. I need your teffilos. Just thought I'd explain so no one

Whew!

thinks I don't LOVE them or something crazy like that I was debating between:

- 1) deeply insulted,
- 2) crushed ego
- 3) or going on vacation too

when in doubt, always chose #3!

Refuah Sheleima to your system!

The problem is no matter how good your email program is, it's not going to write the chizuk-emails for you.

Really, I had more faith in you then that!

Anyway, now that I've resolved your issues you can go back to responding to everybody's emails.

Guard,

The first step is realizing that u are powerless to this problem. Theres nothing YOU can do to control it. The second step is realizing that only a being greater than urslef can fix it. After you internalize these we will work on steps 3-12. ;D

Dont be too hard on urself,

-INH

Guard,

Whatever you do,

DON'T try to resolve the problem with a registry clean-up program!

It's an uphill battle, even the emails feel it.

Thank you,

Good news. After 2 days thinking it was my filter and on the phone with the filter co, then thinking it was my computer, and trying to restore system backups, and then finding the same problem on my other computer on the network, the only thing it could have been was either the router or something at the connection level. As per Tomim's advice, I called the ISP and they helped me reset the proxy to manual and put in a specific number and port. And B"H after that, ConstantContact seems to be working smoother and faster than ever before! (Another example of a Bracha in disguise). Sheesh. What a headache. Hours wasted on the phone with tech support. Nu, Gam Zu Letovah.

Alls well that ends well!

Good Shabbos GYE!
