

Any tips?

Posted by Rick - 29 May 2017 21:39

Hi, I'm working on getting clean (again) in a new yeshiva, I feel like it will be a lot easier if I knew someone in my yeshiva who also has a problem with masturbation but I feel weird asking around if anyone has this problem.

any tips?

How do I write it? And how can I keep it hanging on the board, my yeshiva is small, and everyone knows each other, so none is gonna wanna try to get ahold of me out of shame, and people will be asking around, trying to figure out who wrote the note, I dont think thats gonna work

Perhaps leave a magazine in the dinin' room and see who tucks it into their pants. If that doesn't work.... Il give up.

What do you really want from us?

Whats the best way to ask someone if they are having problems as well, and how do I identify who to ask?

Rick would you put up a sign?

"Lookin' to form a ????? ?????? group. To join please email eyes.guard@gmail.com"

Whoever wants to join will have to first have a chat with our dear admin Yaakov

Serious idea. What's your thoughts?

Also known as holding your breath.

How long do you think you can hold your breath for until you will need an oxygen tank to breath.

Don't push too hard, you get out of breath quicker.

But seriously have a look on the forum and see what works for you.

Hey Rick I didn't see the sign up yet ;-(

Did you chat with Yaacov to let him know what it's about, so he'll know where to direct any friends?

btw when you're bored I recommend you read this Nice Trucking Story that's relegated to the end of my sig ;-)

The yeshiva I'm in doesn't allow smart phones (like most yeshivas) I got a heter from the rosh yeshiva after I explained that I need gye, I have an idea of how I can ask everyone I'm my yeshiva who are hiding their phones so that it only reaches those who need it but I can only do it on Monday, but thank you so much for the idea again
