

Questions, Comments for Rabbi Twerski ShlitoH

Posted by UTS - 09 Dec 2009 10:43

[b]There is now a website with a link to contact Rabbi Twerski by email among many other things.

[size=10pt][size=12pt]

www.abrahamtwerski.com/

... making this thread more or less obsolete. I am leaving it here, until I or a moderator decide it's not necessary. There are quite a few comments which I would not like to be the one to delete by removing the whole thread.

It occurred to me that I have and others probably have questions that they would like to ask of Rabbi Twerski. He of course is the one who really got the frum world to begin at least to realize that there are addiction problems within it and that the best way to deal with them is with the Twelve Steps. So I decided to open this thread. In it, hopefully anyone who has such a questions can post them.

Please note that Rabbi Twerski has already answered a number of foundational (yesodistike) questions on this site at:

Kedusha is one of the most powerful forces on this forum, and he does many things for GYE that a lot of you don't even know about. Thank you Kedusha! And keep up the good work.

). Here's his reply (in blue):

Just several months ago, Sara Diament M.A, wrote a booklet "Talking to Your Children About Intimacy: A Guide for Orthodox Jewish Parents." It is worth reading

It can be purchaced here.

See also here and here for articles about it.

I recieved a reply from Rabbi Twerski (he got out of it easy
OK, so we need someone to get the booklet and summarize it in a few paragraphs. Who wants to take up this challenge? Ano? Ovadia? Imtrying? :D

I wrote a brief review of Talking to Your Children About Intimacy: A Guide for Orthodox Jewish Parents. It can be found here.
