

QUICK HELP WITH IPODS

Posted by Kedusha - 17 Dec 2009 18:48

---

If anyone can help me, I can very much use a quick answer:

My daughter's iPod stopped working. A relative wants to surprise her with a new one, and is asking which one to get. It seems that all iPods now allow you to watch videos (except for the iPod Shuffle, but that one doesn't allow you to choose which song you want). If at all possible, I would want her to get a model that is only audio capable. Any ideas (such as something offered by a competitor of Apple/iPod?).

=====

=====

Re: QUICK HELP WITH IPODS

Posted by strugglingandstrivngBT - 22 Sep 2010 20:07

---

a. the ipod only plays video you allow it to play. If you create an itunes account with someone that wont abuse it holding the password there's no risk (slightly easier said than done, I'm aware)

b. when I was in high school(only about 6 years ago) I had a creative NOMAD. very nice mp3 player, no video no radio. easy to use and pick songs. It met an untimely end and I got an ipod. never went back simply because of the apple warranty. also not sure what the new model is like, but thought I'd mention it.

chag sameach!!!!

=====

=====

Re: QUICK HELP WITH IPODS

Posted by desperate_teddybear - 22 Sep 2010 20:32

---

the new multi-touch nano that just came out has no video.

www.apple.com/ca/ipodnano/

=====

====

Re: QUICK HELP WITH IPODS

Posted by Kedusha - 26 Sep 2010 03:33

---

A Gutten Moed!

Thank you to everyone for your assistance!

=====

====