

GUARD YOUR EYES

Posted by Spain - 04 Mar 2021 23:48

I feel so bad. I fall every week and can't get out of it. I just want to be free. Hashem help me. I am a bochur in yeshiva and feel like I am living a double life. I am making progress though. Each time is less and less. Again, I just want to be free.

I've been struggling since like 7th grade. Back then I didn't know what it was I was doing or how wrong it was. Now I'm trying to get a hand on things. I've been really trying hard but...you know..It's like I don't want to do it...It's mainly shtus on Netflix or youtube. I've got rid of social media...b'h. It's mainly shmerias eynayim but sometimes unfortunately michas zera.

And once you're done, check out the 'story for a bachur' shared at the end of my signature below.

Welcome! Or Bienvenido like they say in Spain!

You are in the right place. In order to stop you must be clear what you want to stop. Write a list and see that the pros outweigh the cons. Make it a clear ironclad decision.

Stay around read and post, post, post!

Hatzlacha!

Welcome to the light at the end of the tunnel!

As much as one would like for all of his problems to go away in an instant, the reality is that life doesn't work that way. No one ever conquered a nisayon overnight; it's a process of falling and rising multiple times. Therefore, instead of being caught off-guard when a relapse occurs, a person should know to expect it, and when it happens, he should take it in stride and simply tell himself, "I'm happy this didn't come until now, but I knew it would happen again."

When the yetzer hora rears its ugly head yet another time, the most important thing to bear in mind is that the nisayon should be used as a learning experience.

please keep posting and Hashem should help you stay strong.

Gotcha. And have you tried any concrete steps thus far? Like filters etc?
