

GRODNIAN EXPERIMENT

Posted by Ish MiGrodno - 27 Aug 2021 05:54

Hi Heilige Oilam,

I was thinking of a sweet idea for the overall GYE brotherhood / community - from now until Erev YK.

The concept goes as follows:

Although posting here provides amazing chizuk for guys struggling, bottom line is that when alone with our computers, there's very little that can prevent falls. However, perhaps we can band TOGETHER to give HKB"H the following collective and communal gift:

Every night, I am asking that ONE person stretch beyond his natural limits and stay clean in the face of taavah...He then posts his success, and there you got it - he is that night's "miracle." (Sorry Grant for plagiarizing your Chanuka shtickel)...And don't forget to describe how you you through the fire!

And although it's "only one night," you have now joined with a remarkable community - to present our Creator with the ultimate communal gift of sacrifice (i.e., ???? ????) before the holiest day.

I'm perfectly cool if this idea flops....at least I tried :)

I am so proud to be part of this chevra of people who are so committed to improving in self-discipline!

There is an area that may challenge me this Shabbos, so I would like to take Tishrei 5...Would anyone join and take any date from now until Y"K....to stretch beyond their perceived limits Likras Yom Hadin?

Thank you from Grodno! ~ IMG

Please note the title change - as per a request.

Bain Hazmanim can be brutal - so a well planned and manageable kabala can be incredibly valuable.

I'm going to take tommorow.

Thanx for extending this amazing thread!

I for one have a hard time before succos.

Also my in laws have unfiltered internet in their house so...

(bh my wife is in the loop now so hopefully we will manage)

Thank you!

Is having your wife involved ONLY a benefit - or does it also pose some new challenges? (I know that the answer is different for everyone but I am interested to hear about the varying experiences that people have..)
