Just installed gentech, any advice?

I just installed gentech on my iphone and I just wanted to know if there are any tips anyone can offer that would make my experience with it better in terms of getting functionality out of it.

As of right now I have the gentech app installed on my iphone but when I open it just shows a page that says "Welcome and Thank you for using Gentech". Is this what everyone sees when they open the app or can anyone see their account overview like on the iphone they show on their website here?

Also, do I need to buy a new subscription if I want to get gentech on a Windows device? And since I already bought Gentech for Apple can I install gentech on another iphone with that same subscription?

Wow, so that's going to be pretty expensive then. It's still a really good filter though I think I'm going to get it for my computer also because I really do need to. The person I set as my family organizer doesn't really care if I ask them to turn off the filters or not and doesn't supervise me when I ask to do change the settings so I have no other choice. But it will be well worth it.

Gentech is pretty good.

I just got it now for 30 days to try out.

I'm not completely happy with it though.

I definitely recommend webchaver for a laptop, it doesn't work so well on iPhone though.

For me I think webchaver works better than gentech but that's just me.

Why not have TAG be your supervisor for Gentech? They'll also help you with technical problems.

PM me or email me if you need any filter advice. I've spoken with almost all of them. (I also did my time "stress testing" them...)

That offer goes to everyone on this site reading this also.
