

Non-Jewish Rehabs

Posted by ally - 04 Aug 2023 19:23

Does anyone know if there is a Guideline-Book for all Halochos and help, for Shabbos and more, for when you are in a Non-Jewish Addiction Rehab?

=====
=====

Re: Non-Jewish Rehabs

Posted by Healing - 04 Aug 2023 19:34

No, sorry.

Wishing you much luck and success.

Welcome to this community, seems like this is your first post. This is a great place and lots to learn.

Keep fighting, focus on the good.

Love you,

Have a great shabbos!

=====
=====

Re: Non-Jewish Rehabs

Posted by bright - 04 Aug 2023 23:19

Hatzlacha! We are here for you. My advice is to get yourself a Rav. Preferably one with experience in the area.

=====
=====

====

Re: Non-Jewish Rehabs
Posted by ally - 06 Aug 2023 16:26

I believe it would be incredible if we could collaborate on a project like this, with the guidance of a knowledgeable and experienced Rav, to assist those who are struggling. It has the potential to be of such great benefit to so many of our fellow Yidden.

=====
====

Re: Non-Jewish Rehabs
Posted by ally - 06 Aug 2023 17:08

And could anyone help me with info about the Rehab called beginagaininstitute.com/ ?

=====
====

Re: Non-Jewish Rehabs
Posted by yitzchokm - 06 Aug 2023 17:19

ally wrote on 06 Aug 2023 16:26:

I believe it would be incredible if we could collaborate on a project like this, with the guidance of a knowledgeable and experienced Rav, to assist those who are struggling. It has the potential to be of such great benefit to so many of our fellow Yidden.

Maybe contact R.E.L.I.E.F. and ask them whether they know of a rav who has competence in dealing with addictions and is readily available. My guess is that they can give you the answer.

=====
====

Re: Non-Jewish Rehabs
Posted by Shmuel - 06 Aug 2023 19:27

I am not a Rav and i will not Paskan. I would however like to offer a perspective based in personal experience.

in my experience with addiction and from what I've heard from others in recovery, addiction can be a matter of life and death.

I have found that my recovery has been successful when i made it the priority in my life and sometimes it has even come before my yidishjeit...

=====
=====

Re: Non-Jewish Rehabs
Posted by bright - 07 Aug 2023 22:11

Shmuel wrote on 06 Aug 2023 19:27:

I am not a Rav and i will not Paskan. I would however like to offer a perspective based in personal experience.

in my experience with addiction and from what I've heard from others in recovery, addiction can be a matter of life and death.

I have found that my recovery has been successful when i made it the priority in my life and sometimes it has even come before my yidishjeit...

Many Rabbanim would definitely say that. The day to day shailos may still require guidance though....

=====
=====