

Someone else's problem?

Posted by notezy - 19 Mar 2024 16:42

I am on a bus and by the time people respond to this I will probably be off...

however thier is a chasidish kid next to me who hss what seems to be a not kosher android and i am assuming his parents don't know he has it because he keeps using it then hugging the screen to his chest and looking at his parents...(sitting a couple rows in front)

Anyways looks very schetchy and maybe I should give him the benfit of the doubt the kid looks young I am debating saying something but not sure if its my place currently scrolling images. I don't even know If I can get the point across to the parents but is it my place and is it the right thing to do something about it... any opinions?

=====
=====

Re: Someone else's problem?

Posted by notezy - 19 Mar 2024 16:46

.

=====
=====

Re: Someone else's problem?

Posted by cande - 19 Mar 2024 16:46

notezy wrote on 19 Mar 2024 16:42:

I am on a bus and by the time people respond to this I will probably be off...

however thier is a chasidish kid next to me who hss what seems to be a not kosher android and i am assuming his parents don't know he has it because he keeps using it then hugging the screen to his chest and looking at his parents...(sitting a couple rows in front)

Anyways looks very schetchy and maybe I should give him the benfit of the doubt the kid looks young I am debating saying something but not sure if its my place currently scrolling images. I don't even know If I can get the point across to the parents but is it my place and is it the right thing to do something about it... any opinions?

leave the poor kid alone, youll just make his life more miserable notify the parents

=====

=====

Re: Someone else's problem?

Posted by notezy - 19 Mar 2024 16:47

Not sure if I can

=====

=====