Sorry about the SPAM post
Posted by the.guard - 29 Mar 2009 20:46

_____

We used to get like 10 spam posts a day, until I set up the forum that I have to manually approve each member. Most of the time I can tell if a member is real or spam. For the few that I can't tell, I approve them but require that they activate the account themselves. Usually spammers don't bother activating the accounts. However, there are rare cases where they DO activate the account and are spammers, and then they post spam on the forum. I was out for an hour, sorry I didn't delete it sooner. I hope no one clicked on the links!!

==

Re: Sorry about the SPAM post
Posted by Someone - 04 Apr 2009 20:13

_____

I saw it but wasn't able to delete it? Anything changed with my status? And I didn't click on the

==

Re: Sorry about the SPAM post
Posted by the.guard - 04 Apr 2009 21:42

_____

Sorry, I fixed it now...

==

links