

Let's Go 8 Days Clean!

Posted by stopsurvivingstartliving - 25 Dec 2024 12:03

For all those out there who had recent falls please join me on the mission to make it through Chanukah pure.

You don't got to say goodbye to it, just put it on pause for the next 8 days.

Let's have our own 8 candles of wins which are a whole lot brighter than a flame of fire!

Please post here in this thread if you want to join.

A Freilachin Chanukah!

Can we do other things in honor of Chanukah?

I would like to not watch any movies or shows throughout Chanukah.

I truly admire your ability to try again and again and be positive and find meaning in all good days and screw the whole streak thingy.

I just prepared in the last few hours leading up to Canukah with porn and masturbation and feeling like... I am moved by your resilience and with gods help over Chanukah will not do any proactive activity with the intention of feeding my lust. No filter poking, no incognito mode etc...

thanks for the push. Will update on my personal thread.

Love your attitude, stay strong!

Is there someone you can reach out to, to help with accountability for the next 8 days?

I'm in!!! I know it's only 8 days but it definitely will be a struggle.

I'm also trying to be careful on movies and TV shows.(I made a Kabbalah but this one might be harder!)

I find the evenings the hardest part.... No real structure and even if you have a party- not either so conducive!!

Im really hoping that I can pull through on both/tri ends.

How do others fill there time after lighting and until bed? Would love to get some ideas

Happy Chanukah!!!

Thanks,

Trying

First two nights of Chanukah and no falls to report on my challenge.

Close call over here! Was just browsing for something and something else caught my eye... Went deeper and realized what I was doing. Pulled myself out but it wasn't easy... nervous for shabbos, need to make sure to keep myself busy and not feel down.

Have a great shabbos Chanuka everyone!
