

Unsolicited Request for Donations

Many of you have heard of Eerie's hotline. For those who haven't, look around for his posts about it. Or, look around for the ads he's placed that have helped connect literally hundreds of people to desperately needed help for their lust issues.

Now yamim noraim are around the corner and the hotline crew would like to run a round of ads to reach even more people. To do that they need you! And by "you" I mean your money! Time to step up: thechesedfund.com/yiddenhelpingyidden

This is totally unsolicited. I don't have anything to do this with this program. In fact, I don't actually know if they want me posting this. But I'm just so blown away by the level of ahavas yisroel, chesed, and personal responsibility that the hotline chevra are displaying that I couldn't resist.
