Hey Net,

Don't beat yourself up over your two recent slips. The very fact that you have posted on this forum shows that you desire to carry on climbing upwards again.

Remember, it has been said that, "the man who never did anything wrong never did anything."

What I draw from this is that making mistakes is all part of life and the learning process, which is ACTIVE.

However, these small setbacks will not be of value of you unless you learn from them. You must honestly ask yourself what was the cause of these slips so that you can avoid repeating the same mistake in the future.

KUTGW and hope you're well!

Hello net

Lets get this cleared up. you say you feel like cra*p. Now not trying to be cynical, how do you know what cr*p feels like?

You might feel like a diamond that fell into a pile of cr*p . but you still are a diamond. Wash yourself off, polish up your act and you are a diamond.

The greatest weapon that the evil wicked menuval has is that he convinces us that we can't change. There are no magic potions. it's work, but you will get stronger every day.

Today is my 40th day that I am clean. Beleive me holy brother net, I in my wildest dreams couldn't imagine being at 40 days. A good streak for me was a week. But holy tzaddik look at all the tzaddikim on this forum! look at phillip, ben, ykv scwrtz, these people HUBBIN GERISIN FUN ZICH lit. "tore from themselves".

Please don't let these Holy moments of hirhur teshuva pass by. Jump in to the forum. Come along for the ride, there are such good people here!

Net, I can guide you to an SA group in Israel if you want. I had a two hour talk on the phone today with someone there.

And what's with the therapy you were going to once? You should really go back.

You owe it to yourself to be the man you truly want to be.
