

THAT IS IT!!!!

THE REAL ME

I've had it with falling. I'm getting serious now. I will not let anything get in my way. Not my yeher hara for arayos, depression or anything else. I have the potential for greatness! H' has blessed me with more than I could ever desire. He has absolute love for me. I don't care that I just experienced a horrible fall and broke my shvua. I will not be controlled by my Y"h for depression. As I was slipping I had a great shmonei esrei, crying and everything, which ended up making me all the more worse off, leading to an actual deep fall. I am here to change myself, my community and the world at large, simply one day at a time, one smile at a time.

I am put in this world for the ultimate pleasure and I'm not going to let some petty, deceiving, sly, mamzer, shagetz snake of a y'h take any of it away from me.

GET OUT!!! GET OUT OF ME!!!! I'LL SLIT YOUR THROAT AND SPILL YOUR BLOOD ON THE FLOOR!!!!

I'M IN CONTROL!!! Any time I find myself getting weak, I want to realize the tremendous signs I'm getting at that moment to stop. I want to stop living in the past and start living in the present. There is so much pleasure in my life. I'm not alone. No one ever is. I am always loved by my creator, no matter how far I fall and I'll always get back up no matter how bad the trip. I am a Jew, decendant of the holiest people on earth. My blood is the blood descending from a people who gave millions of their lives to promote the name of G-d in the world!! I am in control and I could care less what he this idiot has to say about it!

Ok, I just fell. I'm sitting here typing on the computer. as i take a deep breath, I can feel my whole body more relaxed, knowing that I'll be free at least for a little bit.

But now What?...I'm not quite sure what to say. I want to be strong. I want serve the Master of the World, but I just....

No, No No No No No No.. Stop who is this one tlaking right now. who is this put ting in my head that I am a failure?

Is it true? who am I..... What can I become? where does my potential lie?

this is my weakness and my greatest potential strength. waht have I to fear but the fear itself? H' is on my team, who else is rooting for me even in my darkest moments? who else cheers me on and wants to give me the most real and lasting pleasure besides H'?

Master of the world, tate zise helige tate!!!!

I can't live without the light of your schena!!! master of the world master of the world! I wanted to keep the holy shvua you allowed me to make. i wanted to keep your holy words that you allowed me to utter. but i didn't. I chose not to.

BUT DON'T FORGET - the truth is that after an aveira, I must view it as H's will. so i learned that this is the basic characteristic of emunah. there is no reason to beat myself up again. i've done it too many times. i know its wrong already. i know i have to improve. i want to call all out to my master in pain. but i feel that if i do so, it will only lead me to depression.

Sadly, I feel that anyone can cry, but only the strong can smile. there is so much to cry about. obviously, there is so much more to smile about, but for some reason we take comfort in our suffering, and don't realize the potential we have for happiness.

I choose to be happy. I chooseI choose to see the good in the world. That i can type right now, breathe in deep, while singing my words I can choose to see a screen and laugh at my fall. I can laugh at how crazy it is that I can fall and still be one of H's chosen children. How eternal is love. How ludicrous is despair. I must have a stadium cheering for me right now.

GET UP AND CHANGE THE WORLD LIKE YOU ARE DESTINED TO.

never give up. If you can break, then you can fix. if you can cry you can sing and if you can fall you can rise. what goes down, I MUST make go up. what crashes, I must rebuild. Nothing is lost but my minutes of the past.

Granted I have fallen, I know it hurts, but the master of the world doesn't desire my crying. he doesn't desire my tears of sadness. tears of joy, success, happiness, truth, smiles, love, peace, inner satisfaction, understanding, depth, realization, heart-pumping, life-altering, reuniting falls are exactly what was desired. I cry out, in my carlebach cry MASTER OF THE WORLD master of the world. if I could realize you are my father, unconditionally loving father, if I could only begin to live constantly with you. if I could taste the depth of a single mitzvah once more and breathe deeply and contently as I know I should - I would be complete.

SO now waht?

I DANCE!!!

yigdale shribe shaabas.....yigdalei shribe shabaas..... umm bam abam bam baumdi, da, do da.....dim ba di dada,dda dam budidam bim bam.....

And I'm back!!! happier than ever

H' is incredible. within just 24 hours my day was flipped on its head. what am i saying 24, more like 6!

within minutes i had my entire day transformed. I just found myself into the most incredible kiruv opportunity, in e'y in the most select program!!!!

There is one master of the world, who puts you in lows to see how you will react, to test your emunah, trying to prove to the tested himself who he really is!!!

Even though I may have failed, next time I know that I must dive directly into simcha. no more "now what"... it is obvious

FIX THE WORLD!!!! how? BESIMCHA!!!! just one person at a time, one smile at a time - starting with myself. ;D

As we here love to say:

"Hashem Ozer 24/7"

Cool

Well, you can always fill the shoes of R Noaqch Zt"l.....you just need to have his hasmadah!!
No wimp of a learner can ever amount to what he was in kiruv, his torah gave him what he had!
Just remember that 7 Yipol Tzaddik Vekam Lo. R Noach founded 2? yeshivos for BTs, and both flopped (or the 2nd one became Or Sameich, and only the first floped). But what makes you a tzaddik is that you get-up after a fall, and keep up the pace (R hutner).

GYE chavrusahs that is!

Now your on the right track! Just like people in our shoes, can't tolerate too much lust...if any, so too pain, and crying. We pashut can't tolerate it. It's good to cry for a few minutes, but if it will lead us to a nose dive that we can't get out of, then it becomes the most detrimental thing in the world, as it WILL lead to acting out.

"Feel pain, and cry out for what you have done, this is the frum way", (this is the Y"H's way, and not the "frum" way).

Be B'simcha, this will cause the Y"H to get out of the way., so we must do this every day! :D

Only for someone in control, can they be broken hearted for a short period, and then get out of it.

Life is soo soo so special. So deep so exaulted. right now, i have absolute clarity thtat H' runs the whole world. He gives me everything, cares for me, provides for me, in the most precise amount possible. as we say as shabbas draws near to an end, mizmor ledavid H' roi lo echsar...there could be nothing more true than this. THE whole world was created for me benefit. everyone and everything H' created just for me. there is no reason for sadness no reason for despair except feeling far from H'. but in truth, even feeling far from H' is foolishness, because he is so close to you constantly that any feeling of distances is really just the y'h blinding youfrom obvious truth. Picture har sinai. H' came down, and spoke to bnei. amidst all the lightning and thunder smoke and fire, it was clear who H' was. so powerful, so infinite. what happened at har sinai was that we were allowed to see both sights and sound. but what is the reason why H' had us see sight and sound. if he wanted to really impress us, just show us that we can see sound and it should have been enough, no? so why did he show us the lightning, and fire as well? to show us that every single thing in life is actually as amazing and as large a miracle as was see sound. seeing in general is on the same plane. this is pshat in the extra word "lemor" right before mattan torah - H' was telling bnei to pass on the experience of Har sinai to future generations, tell those who hadn't directly experienced it what it was and pass on the revelation. this shabbas, i have experienced revelation - a mini har sinai. often in life, H' gives us mini har sinai experiences, moments of inspiration, of joy, of sadness, of realization of the facts and truths of life. its value, its depth, its holiness and its potential. shabbas is the most obvious experience of har sinai.

(even though others may not always recognize these obvious truths, creating for themselves fake and shallow relationships with H', this is only paint but deep down everyone wants

I have rebbeim, friends and family that are all there for me, cheering me along my way, helping me reach perfectin and ultimate happiness. no matter what happens, how hard life gets, how sad things seem to be (no matter WHAT) and how far you feel from H' - know: H' loves me. He created, creates and will create (techiat hametim) the world for me always . take a deep breath, and realize how amazing life is, was and will always be.

I love you Hashem!

Aaron: I am SOOOO happy for you and the joy you've been finding. There's so much avodah for each of to do, and sometimes it seems like there's SOOOOO little simcha with which to do it. Whatever torahdike simcha is there in your life ... keep it up!

I'm curious about one piece you may have mastered better than I have. Namely, how to apply that simcha to ALL corners of life, not just the high holy moments. To a workday, to cooking dinner, to an argument with a friend or relative.

For me, it's the ability to "GROUND" the simcha into something more mundane and more tangible that's the real test of my simcha. What's your secret?

Re: THAT IS IT!!!!

I think the first step in simcha is trying to realize every single thing taking place in this moment. The mere exercise of realizing the givens of working (involving having a body which is functional that allows me to work, opportunity, an employer, a paycheck ...), of cooking dinner (smelling, stirring, tasting,seeing,moving,getting full, having food, having running water and a pot and a stove and...) and an argument with a friend (having the ability to speak, to think, to communicate, to breathe, to relax, having a friend, having a relative, having an opinion...) are the most obvious keys to simcha. Most amazingly, we are not deserving of any of them! each is a present in its own right! not just any present, but a present from a king- the KING OF KINGS! Being given not with disgust, throwing it over his shoulder, but being given with absolute unconditional love!

Realizing lo nivra ha'olam elah bishvili - H' created the entire world just for me to enjoy - me and me alone, is the deepest, most amazing feeling to realize.

every single thing in this world--, all roads, the buildings, the jobs, the currency, the cars, the plants, animals, and people-- were created solely for my pleasure!

(do not be confusing in thinking that this is absolute hedonism, but rather the most basic foundation of gratitude. I realize that I am nothing but walking dust, while simultaneously being undeservingly blessed with the most exquisite pleasures imaginable).

Ma rabu maasecha H' - kulam bechochma asita!
