

Tried-Trying-Will Try

Posted by trying123 - 19 Mar 2010 11:12

I just fell...

I don't like it...

As things were happening, I spoke to G-d -asked him to take this whole thing away from me.... I wanted to stop it....

I don't know what to do.... I hope this doesn't happen too often...

I'm just gonna move on with my day...

R' Volbe once wrote that having a social life and keeping busy helps take these stuff away....

I am definitely working on those.... Hope I heal soon....

Please Pray for me...

Peace and Love to all....

May we all merit Holiness and fulfillment....

I wana be good, don't wana fall

But it feels like I keep hitting a brick wall

Please take this away, I don't want to stray

I wana just keep all bad things far from bay

I feel so so lost, when will this all end?

Please Please Please I need a good friend..

I wana try my best, I hope I am

but I never know what you really demand

(a lot of what I write doesn't resonate with most of you

Not much I can do...

I consider this my personal diary...

I think it helps me...)

Peace and love to all my holy Brothers...

(P.s. I think I'm done with the thread "Messed up image of Hashem", that is not my real issue...)

I suspect that most first-timers felt uncomfortable, even if you didn't see it.

That's a huge step forward, though! I hope you give yourself credit for that!

My name is tried and I am a computer addict I do not have power over this addiction.

I have recently been thinking that it would be best for me to make a white list of only the sites I need -and have everything else blocked out.

I am ready to do this I am just waiting to hear from my therapist if it is the best move for me right now (I have a history of taking too much upon myself and then crumbling under it...).

If he agrees, I hope Hashem gives me the strength to do this and to find other more meaningful replacements...

Any and all comments are welcome...

P.s. If anyone sill remembers me and is reading this thread if you can be kind and just let me know that I am not writing to a dial tone I'd be very appreciative

Yet another reason you are indeed not writing to a dial tone, chaver! Great hearing you! I ,too, am unable to make good g'darim in my use of the computer - I am in poor control of my time when I post on GYE and respond to PMs. I need help for this and in order to get the help I need the first thing I must do is become honest with another person who can at least somewhat understand what my struggle is like. Many can, when it comes to computer use, even of the kosher quality. Your admitting your difficulty has hepled me already! Thanks! let's stay in touch.

The night before you posted this, I commented to someone that Tried-123 hasn't been around in a while. I miss him.

Coincidence or Providence?

I am using my computer much less the past couple of days....

It is so so so hard... It was my escape, my virtual reality where I can be in the company of others and be part of some action.....

It is crystal clear why I have become addicted to computer/internet... No internet= facing my real life which is no fun....

At this point I am just so disgusted? at myself for wasting time and not accomplishing and moving forward that I am propelled to try to face my real life and try to make some difficult changes...

It is scary... I don't know that I'll succeed... I don't know how to pull out of my real life difficulties (social phobia the highest among them...)

But I think I must try, I must take a step...

Today I shot some hoops (basketball) which is good for me and Which I haven't done in such a long time...

Thank You:

Briut for letting me know that someone's listening

Yosef Hatzadik for missing me

7up (aka Mom) for shooing the spiders away

Dov for your warm words

SB for being a GYE pro

I have no interest in being a pro, and in fact, I'm not...I'm just glad I get the opportunity to welcome you back.
