

A voice that can be heard

Posted by ToAdd - 18 Jun 2010 06:35

Hi All,

I have been totally sober now for almost two weeks, so I am a total newbie. Although, I did not go cold turkey, there have been many steps over a long time.

I was speaking to somebody about what a big problem lust addiction is and they have offered me a slot on a Jewish radio station (www.chaifm.com/) to speak to our community (and the world) about it.

The radio station is based in Johannesburg, South Africa but has many listeners around the world using streaming audio. I have not yet researched if there are support groups here, but will be doing so shortly.

The slot is in about two weeks' time, in parsha Pinchas (how appropriate).

I need your help!

If you have a message that could help others or any advice that you'd like to share, please post it here.

Thanks in advance.

(ToAdd) - Yosef.

=====
=====

Re: A voice that can be heard

Posted by the.guard - 18 Jun 2010 10:52

As the founder of GuardYourEyes, if you want, I can fill the slot for you and call in by phone from Israel... I would talk about how prevalent the problem is, and what we found really works.

If they want you to talk, I suggest you read our handbooks and share some of the great tools in them.

=====

Re: A voice that can be heard

Posted by bardichev - 18 Jun 2010 11:17

Welcome aboard

Hi I would love to open a sudafrikaan pub

I have to research it a bit

The only south african product we have is Ceres juice

Actually one of the greatest talmidi chachamim is a south african named Rabbi Akiva Tatz. See if you can get his shiurim on thr Radio

Bards

=====

Re: A voice that can be heard

Posted by ToAdd - 18 Jun 2010 13:02

Thanks guardureyes

I'm sure you would do a far better job than me.

I'll see what can be arranged for you.

If people dont know they have a problem, they can't be helped

=====

Re: A voice that can be heard

Posted by ToAdd - 18 Jun 2010 13:24

bardichev,

You're gonna have to do more research than that to open a "sudafrikaan pub", if the only product of ours you could find is Ceres.

We have the worlds fourth biggest brewery (Actually I think they merged with heineken and became the second biggest), perhaps they'll sponsor your pub? (quick check to see if we're on AA forum or SA forum).

Have a Good Shabbos everyone, or as we say in South African: Shabbat Shalom.

=====