~~thats called spinking yiddish when you dont really know how to~~

one way to learn yiddish is when you get a rebbe in yeshiva that speaks the shiur partially in yiddish.

you kind of pick it up.

The rebbe is not in total golus.

The rebbe checks up on the forum i think.

You can be in touch with R' bardichev via PM

He misses the oilam...

the Rebbe has also shined his benevolent countenance upon my lowly self and graced me with his PM's, for which i am indebted to him.

i think everyone would love to have him back.

When he comes back, I go back to being an ice cream CUSTOMER.

Maybe i'll sell lemonade. we'll see.

i think the EY people of GYE are thinking about calling it a day, the English are having tea, the East Coasters are probably firing up the grill for supper, the West Coasters are busy al hamichyah v'al hakalkala, and the Alaska branch is a davar shelo ba le'olam, so it's only me and you.

so what's up?
