

My PC is just a piece of plastic...gasp!!!

Well guys,

I was about to sleep when I started coughing. I had to switch on the light and I looked at my desk in my room. My Mac lays on it, surrounded by books, papers and other stuff... it's incredible since it is the first time I see all the other stuff around and my room as a whole... and my laptop looks as a miserable piece of plastic ... and I am asking myself how I could get excited in front of it... it's plastic, plastic, plastic!!! ... and this is new life for me ... being conscious that I have a room, with many items among which a plastic laptop, connected to a cable, which is also made up of plastic... and it's like the whole room is living, the door, my shoes, my books, my shoes on the floor... wow ..a whole life which I couldn't see, since before being off in the morning I would immediately switch on the computer for checking facebook and the e-mail... and I would the same being back... and now that is night and dark here the silence is whispering me to stay and admire Life! and I will switch off the laptop. Good night, afternoon, morning or whatever to everybody...

My computer is made out of recycled beer-bottles. The rest of it is wood. Now my head, that's mostly plastic!

Wow!

I've been looking for such a PC for the longest time...

Where did you find it?

E-bay? Bardsville K-Mart?

Yeah, but they're out of stock over there.

The shuk outside of Zichron Moishe is also sold out.

Maybe I'll try Itzkowitz?
