Generated: 27 July, 2025, 10:50

Struggling to actually read the handbook. Posted by thetest - 04 Sep 2014 04:28

Hi all,

I fell today. I fought off the urge twice and put my state of mind in check, but it came back and slowly I gave in. The worst part is I knew that I was doing it, and that I it wasn't worth it. I have to get back on my feet. It's elul, I want to be closer to Hashem again. I want to try something different and go through the handbook fully. I find though that I have a hard time actually sitting and reading it with kavanah. Anyone have any suggestions with what helped them get through it, what made them sit and read it truthfully.

====

Re: Struggling to actually read the handbook. Posted by dms1234 - 04 Sep 2014 06:03

Yes. Don't worry about Kavannah! Take a deep breath (in and out!), start reading and let it all settle in!

====

Re: Struggling to actually read the handbook. Posted by cordnoy - 04 Sep 2014 06:36

Our motto is: One page at a time.

Warning: Spoiler!

GYE - Guard Your Eyes Generated: 27 July, 2025, 10:50

====
Re: Struggling to actually read the handbook. Posted by guardyoureyesds - 16 Sep 2014 11:29
I have the same problem. What i did was i went on a reading binge when i was alone. I didn't finish the book, but i made some really good headway. If i may suggest, set a timer for 10-20 minutes minimum and commit to covering ground in the manuel.
====
Re: Struggling to actually read the handbook. Posted by dd - 16 Sep 2014 14:45
i too never read through the handbook. i know reading the forums is much more exciting. but i guess we should do as the guys mentioned one page at a time or 10-20 minutes a day (also of course one day at a time).
====
Re: Struggling to actually read the handbook. Posted by Machshovo Tova - 16 Sep 2014 19:23
I did the following and it was a great experience: I had a daily havruta (TZ) over the phone (trans-Atlantic). We would read a page a day and discuss it. Try it - you might like it.
Hatzlacha
MT
===

GYE - Guard Your Eyes

Generated: 27 July, 2025, 10:50