this has nothin' to do with the gye handbooks.

please try to post your 'stuff' on one thread.

people don't like new threads about the same stuff poppin' up three times an hour.

title your thread 'Abba,' and continue postin' from there.

thanks and hatzlachah in recovery

It is important to streamline, and while prayer is important even to the guidebook, I have set my praying to the temple wall by Internet, in (things that work for me,) I am always ready to work for a team approach. It is now a new topic, prayer is not a thing that man can really set control on, yet may we find a way where others can pray together or alone, and where we can show others we are praying for them. Abba is just one title I use for HaShem, only to my Infinite Father, when all other fathers are gone, we still have the One and none like the One who holds eternity within. Thanks for all impute.
