

In the footsteps of the Holy R Levi Yitzchock of Bardichiv zy"a

Posted by Noorah BAmram - 27 Sep 2009 15:18

Tonight the chazan will shout out "forgive the entire congregation for it was all unintentional"

The gemorah says that if someone does a sin intentionally but he didn't know the severity of the sin, it can be considered a shogeg (hizid blav vshogag bkareis shmoh shogeg).

I posit before the holy tribunal here made up of the holy members of this forum that every single Jew who sins is unaware of the severity of the sin and thus is considered a shogeg/unintentional.

I beseech you all, please return a verdict Not Guilty and may the Heavenly Court concur and say "Not Guilty":

Amen

Humbly yours

Love to all

Noorah

=====

Re: in the footsteps of R Levi Yitzchock
Posted by Kedusha - 27 Sep 2009 15:48

Noorah BAmram wrote on 27 Sep 2009 15:18:

To night the chazan will shout out "forgive the entire congregation for it was all unintentional"

The gemorah says that if someone does a sin intentionally but he didn't know the severity of the sin, it can be considered a shogeg (hizid blav vshogag bkareis shmoh shogeg).

I posit before the holy tribunal here made up of the holy members of this forum that every single jew who sins is unaware of the severity of the sin and thus is considered a shogeg/unintentional.

I beseech you all, please return a verdict Not Guilty and may the Heavenly Court concur and say "Not Guilty":

Amen

Humbly yours

Love to all

Noorah

Very well said, my friend!

=====

Re: In the footsteps of the Holy R Levi Yitzchock of Bardichiv zy"a
Posted by Noorah BAmram - 27 Sep 2009 17:36

Another important point in the same vein:

All the Talmidei chachomim here are familiar with the talmudic concept "tchiloso bonnais vsofo bratzon hava onies" meaning if someone begins an aveirah "forced" but ends up doing it willingly, halachicly we consider the whole aveirah as if it was done under duress and the doer is not liable.

Honorable Judges, here is a Jew driven by stress, depression, environmental factors beyond their control. It is clear as the midday sun that absent these drivers or triggers our holy Yiddeleh would never ever fall into the sewer on their own volition!

Proof your Honor is the absolute and utter dejection, brokenness and remorse that immediately follows the fall.

And just as the tribunal down here will rule so shall the Heavenly court concur unanimously

NOT GUILTY

May this be a meilitz yosher for the entire klal yisroel

With boundless love

Noorah

=====

Re: In the footsteps of the Holy R Levi Yitzchock of Bardichiv zy"a
Posted by nishmas - 30 Sep 2009 17:56

Reb Noorah,

I just came across this thread. I love this stuff! You say it like the Bardichive Rebbe, with real sincerity and still with proper kavod at the same time. You defend, and at the same time give chizuk to those who you are defending. Think of it. Just like the stories of the Bardichive Rebbe, not only do they defend, but they uplift us at the same time.

I don't know where Bardichiv is geographically, or Slonim, either, but the ToTzaos from those places are unbelievable and powerful.

Yasher Koiyach!

Nishmas

=====

Re: In the footsteps of the Holy R Levi Yitzchock of Bardichiv zy"a Posted by bardichev - 01 Oct 2009 01:35

everyone knows the story of the heiliger bardichever

how he stayed up all night on the first night of succos so he can "shukkle" lulav as soon as the sun rose!!

=====

Re: In the footsteps of the Holy R Levi Yitzchock of Bardichiv zy"a
Posted by Sturggle - 01 Oct 2009 09:34

so, does that mean your party is motash"k?!

two all-nighters this year in one week?

that's intense...

=====

Re: In the footsteps of the Holy R Levi Yitzchock of Bardichiv zy"a
Posted by Sturggle - 01 Oct 2009 09:34

Noorah,

shkoyach on your posts!!

=====

Re: In the footsteps of the Holy R Levi Yitzchock of Bardichiv zy"a
Posted by Kollel Guy - 09 Dec 2009 23:56

I have found, that recounting all zechusim you can think of on klal yisroel durring davening, when asking for h-shem to wake up every yid - to the realization of the potential relationship he/she can have with h-shem, is ONE OF THE MOST EFFECTIVE ways of bringing YOURSELF to recognize the truth of YOUR OWN yearning - at least durring those moments.

I wonder why this is so. I guess it's possible that being melamed zechus on yiddin is such a great thing, and has such amazing effects on high, that the one doing it is zoicheh to percieve it's influence immediately.

In reality, when we think of some way, any way, that we can do something, even the tiniest thing, for H-shem, we are at a loss!! What can we give Him or do for Him? Whatever form of 'benifit' you will want to give Him will fall short, He's simply too big!!

But then the answer hits you!! You can do a tovah for another yid, a child of H-shem, regarding every one of whom he says "Ahavas olam ahavtem" - "I have loved you with an eternal love"!! To do an act of chessed to the child whom H-shem loves so dearly, THIS is our special way of showing and returning our love for Him!!

And even more so, to an even greater extent, you can be meitiv to other yiddin by being me'oreir chessed and rachamim on them, in your tefillos and in the way you think about them. If only we knew the power of our mere perception... (The besh"t says "Wherever a person's thoughts are - that's where his entire being is") Let alone the words and ideas we form with it!

And b'ezras H-shem through successfully attaining a healthy perspective of limud zechus on all yiddin, we will all be zoicheh to attain a healthy perspective on ourselves, and with that bring ourselves to our own geulah and shleimus, Amein

=====
=====