

I want to get involved

Posted by doublejay - 07 Aug 2011 07:09

Hi everyone,

New member here.

I plan on spending some time on the forums and learning about the different options for filters especially mobile filters (android, iphone, blackberry, etc.). I plan on compiling this info and helping to spread awareness.

It appalls me how many "frum" people are toting filter-less smart phones with them. I believe ignorance and lack of guidance is a huge part. Want to try and help.

I would love comments and suggestions on how to expedite my research. I plan on talking to an influential Rosh Yeshiva at the end of this week about spreading the word on advisable mobile filters/accountability software.

=====
=====

Re: I want to get involved

Posted by alexeliezer - 08 Aug 2011 19:37

doublejay wrote on 07 Aug 2011 07:09:

It appalls me how many "frum" people are toting filter-less smart phones with them.

Yes, my friend. There's around 1600 members on this site (including women) and I'm sure we're just scratching the surface.

Not a techie so can't help w your research. But your efforts are certainly appreciated.
Personally, I carry a dumbphone and plan to keep it that way.

If there's anything I or this kehilla can do for you personally, please let us know.

Welcome!

Alex

=====

=====