

Thank u Por...& Mas...

Posted by ThankuThankuThanku - 23 Oct 2011 16:40

Hi Chevra

I started therapy lately, I am rather enjoying it.

But He is getting me to realise how I react and respond in his peculiar ways.

But the most interesting part was the way he is trying to make me feel about P&Ming

this is what he said:

"you are in a war you against the world, living here has been hell for you"

"you have to be thankful to the porn and sex, this is what kept you surviving"

Chevra tell me what you think about it should i quit?

I am not new to the forum I love the forum and hang on to it

however I am new to this ID

I want to be very clear with discussing my therapists way of work

I decided to add another ID for this sake

SO dont try guessing who I am It's none of your B

If he tells you to say Thank you and stop, he is good; if he tells you to continue, shoot him and dump the body in a garbage can in a different state.

Thanks BB for your reply

he has not gotten to the point of the future (i assume he will prohibit it when i am ready)

It is the additude that pn was my lifesaver

it seems odd but damn right

A friend posted in Private when you have the time, i would be very interested in you decribing your therapist's method

i thing that while a certain degree of feeling guilt is healthy,more than its proper dose actually can destroy a person spiritually and therefore thanking Him for you coping in that manner in the past is not actually a novel idea-though some would believe that it is but certainly this thanking need a healthy dose or realism.lust is an unhealthy outlet and even many non-religious know this.

and so,i am very interested in hearing more.anything you feel uncomfortable sharing in the forum but you are ok sharing privately, please PM me about it, when you can

Im not interested in your identity . I just want to learn more about this

Thanks for the info

I understand it's an attitude issue:

the problem is not the p&m they where only my solutions

the problem is lack of security and trust

Tell me friend am i right?

TU x3

I am not a big fan of therapy - might have something to do with my ex's therapist convincing her to file for a divorce and then flirting with me while I went to my therapist (in the same office) ugh!

I am more in favor of a sponsor -

but what do i know - maybe I am crazy.

whoa dov if she want to have fun WITH you, she really needs a therapist, however if she flirted just to be mean and have fun ABOUT you, then she needs a large blood stain on her lower back while dancing in middle of a wedding circle) what was her intention about the divorce, if your wife could not take the pain, or to get you to rock bottom?

about a sponser, i asked around for atleast 2 years and have not found one can you help me

Not condoning violence, however, I would advise a garbage can in the same state. If you cross state lines you will make it a federal offense.

Dear TYTYTY,

1- What exactly is your issue? is it just porn and masturbation or is it really other stuff that is much more involved?

2- Sure your therapist is correct. He is no genius, though. Why else would you be doing it compulsively if it were not a coping mechanism?!

The Torah says the same thing:

Do not shun a Mitzri because you were strangers in their land. Rashi: They housed you, fed you, and clothed you all those years that they were bitterly enslaving you. Have hakoras hatov.

But it Chaza"l still say, "The best Mitzri(who is not a convert)? Bust his head."

Hashem is not asking you to worship or love mitzrim! Just not to shun them in the conversion process. Correct?

Same here. Lust preoccupation and behaviors enslaved you and bitterly messed you up. But it was a coping mechanism, so do not pretend you hate it! "Should" is worthless here - it is your unwelcome best friend.

This is sick, pathetic, but it is our true state, if you are like me.

So now....

What do do about it? That is the ikkar.

If you want it to stop, you will need to say goodbye to your sweet, ugly, best friend. It is what I must do in my recovery, as well. No chidush here.

cut him up in pieces, like in the navi shoftim, he cut his wife up into twelve pieces and sent each piece to a different shevet. Cut him up in 52 pieces and throw each one out in a different state, they'll never figure it out.

@TY (older post)

sorry, forgot to mention my ex had a MALE therapist.

I was not impressed by HIS googly eyes at me, after HE pushed my ex to file for a divorce!
