

hello

Posted by feivel - 25 Jan 2012 07:19

Hi, I've been a long-time lurker, and have read and enjoyed the posts here for many months. I realised in the last few days that a passive engagement with the community just doesn't help, so I want to take the first step and reach out.

This is something I have struggled with since my teens (I'm in my early 30s now), and no amount of vow-making or prostrating myself before Hashem and begging for relief has helped. I so desperately want to change how I live, reconnect - rediscover, really - my Yiddishkeit, and live in an honourable way that adds something to the world.

=====

Re: hello

Posted by tehillimzugger - 30 Jan 2012 17:31

so let's revive it!!!!!!!

i'm going over, anyone coming?

=====

Re: hello

Posted by feivel - 20 Feb 2012 06:46

Sorry for the lack of response from my side, gentlemen. We've recently moved house and are without internet (not such a bad thing, it could be said!). Progress on The Steps, and in life generally has been slow lately, I feel disconnected and the whispers of the yetzer hara are getting louder and louder.

I've been keeping a paper-and-ink gratitude diary, but will join you over at the other board, TZ to share publicly the joy of Hashem's blessings!

=====

Re: hello

Posted by tehillimzugger - 20 Feb 2012 11:23

feivel wrote on 20 Feb 2012 06:46:

We've recently moved house and are without internet (not such a bad thing, it could be said!)

Not a bad thing at all!

feivel wrote on 20 Feb 2012 06:46:

Progress on The Steps, and in life generally has been slow lately, I feel disconnected and the whispers of the yetzer hara are getting louder and louder.

What does "progress on the steps" mean? are you working together with someone/a group?
also for some additional tools when "the whispers of the yetzer hara get louder and louder" see:
www.guardyoureyes.org/forum/index.php?topic=4870

=====

Re: hello

Posted by Eye.nonymous - 20 Feb 2012 12:26

Good to hear from you again, Feivel,

--Elyah

=====

