

i am new here hello

Posted by beh - 05 Aug 2012 05:10

Hi I'm happy I found this site & joined

I have had problems dealing with masturbation for awhile now I believe I am not addicted but in truth I probably am

I've been in therapy for a long time(not for sa) and B"h moving along

Does anyone know when the next phone conf 12 step cycle start?

I not really sure how these threads work I hope to get the hang of it

i feel guilty but hope to find help sholom aleichem!

You've just done a major step! you came to GYE.

Use the tools on this website, and consider using the resources for addicts

Hatzlocha rabba!

R' beh,

Welcome. I think that soon the veterans around here will ask you maybe to tell us more about yourself, so we can get acquainted and then help each other on their journey. So I'll beat them to it - um, maybe tell us something about yourself, what do you mean you may or may not be addicted?

It sounded like you struggle with masturbation more than porn, I'm also in that boat. I think that although it's obviously a good thing that we (I'm already assuming your'e also like that) haven't sunk that far. But since M is at least as addictive as P, but harder to pin down the destruciveness - "only" the Torah says it's wrong - so it's hard to always feel that this is so terrible, maybe 'cause of this it's harder to recover. Just an addict's murmurings.

All the best,

Chaim

R' Beh,

I'm probably to young and stupid and addicted to be a real good partner, but if you'd like you can PM me and we can share numbers.

Hatzlochoh,

Chaim

Ok so here is my story my sister was reading a novel & I also wanted to read it she told me "its not for me" I didn't know what that meant at the time so one day in 7 the grade I came home early from yeshiva to read a book it was filled with explicit sexual content without me even realizing what was going on I ejaculated then somehow I learnt how to masturbate it didn't help that my mother had a bunch pritsdike books around the house since then I' ve been having a hard time. Through therapy lv figured out what masturbation means to me & what it is replacing I hope this program will get me over the hump to Imaaseh break free Be"h

so, push the second one

You can do the twelve step program, that is one option. It works, but you will always think of yourself as an addict.

If you learn cognitive therapy skills you can actually change. You can read "Feeling Good" by David Burns. To give you a taste, try the following techniques:

1. Once a day picture yourself in twenty years looking back on your life. Will you feel good having used dirty pictures for so long?
2. Picture yourself going to shul Shabbos morning. Imagine that you never masturbate. It will feel good being one of the tzadikim in the community.
3. Every time you feel powerless to fight your lust think the following to yourself (do not say it):

Telling myself that I am powerless does not make it okay for me to lust.

The feeling does not grow by itself. It is not a time bomb. I cannot become aroused further unless I choose to think of something lude. If I focus on other things later I will turn around and the feeling will be gone.

I am not more powerless to think of something lude when I am very aroused. I am at no less fault in that case.

4. When you feel like having lude thoughts start doing something you enjoy. Be prepared to improvise and think out of the box. For example, learning may not necessarily be something you enjoy. You might enjoy a drink, or talking to a friend, or listening to music.

Dear nederman,

Yyasher kochacho for your great and valuable feedback and suggestions here! I am going to PM you just to say hi and to comment on something from an old post.

Have a great day!
