

Big Challenge ahead

Posted by gripen100 - 15 Oct 2012 21:46

i want to wright a few lines about me, i live in a latin american country, if you notice any kind of misunderstandings or mistakes, i apologize.

i start to struggle against my self may be 2 years ago, i feel horrible about my situation but i dont have many people to talk about since we are in a small comunity and every one knows the problems of the others, i will feel terrible if my wife knows about this situation.

i learn about this forum because i have a friend that has the same problem as my self, i really thank him for keep this secret and give this tip.

the worse thing about it is that i lead a double life, my wife say that i am a tzadik!, but i dont.

i am here to start changing this problem, and the fist point is to accept it, but after that wich pat i need to lead?

See www.gye.org.es for our Spanish website.

We hope to have a Spanish forum there too shortly.

Bienvenido!!!

First of all you have to install filters and read the handbook.. thats number one, like I told you...

Be patient and have in mind you have a lot of friends here who have the same problems and will always want to help you...
