

A Journey Without a Name

Posted by unanumun - 01 Apr 2014 07:34

here goes. after spending all day on the site, i downloaded k9 filter for my laptop. (my office has a filter and my phone has the browser blocked and my wife has the code)

i now signed up for the 90 days. I hope it is not to soon, but I think i can do it. i think that all the support everyone gets and gives around here might be enough.

i have nothing to lose i guess (I really want this to work) and I am feeling very optimistic. and having all my new friends know what is going on with me will probably be great for me.

Does anybody think I am making a mistake and going to fast?

Can there be a downside?

MAZAL TOV!!!

Relax. Don't hold your breath for several weeks. Relax, let go, and enjoy the little one.

One day at a time.

thank you all.

at first i thought it was weird to receive mazel tovs on the forum. but then i realized that you guys are a real part of my life and I am glad that i was able to share this simcha with you. Of course at first i was nervous that somebody would figure out who i am (because of course there) but i am starting to get less neurotic about it anyway. I would like to post a sign on the forum announcing the time and place of the bris but i am not that ready tto come out openly.

either way thanks for the kind words and it is nice to share simchos with all of you and not just hardships.

And pidaeni thanks for the kind words. I suspect i will be hanging out here a bit more frequently again.

There is even a slight minhag here of blue teddy bears or blue blankets given for a shalom zachor.....shteiger was in charge of some of this.

Sadly, the other guy hasn't held up his part lately either.

b'hatzlachah and mazel tov again!!!
