Who gave you a right to sleep?

We have a job to do!

Got me thinking... (uh oh)

Maybe I should start sleeping 15-20 minutes every hour so I don't miss anything!

And this is why I try not to think.

Sometimes it's harder to not think than it is to not lust. But then it always ends with lust...

Morai ve rabotai dont know who started this thread . I am assuming, maybe, it is good old Cordnoy. Not sure though. Please have mercy on me and let me go.I can not handle so many addictions simultaneously. Writing on the forums is highly addictive. And it takes my mind of learning and davening.I have yet to put order in my life (long story) , posting here in this beloved site is a huge distraction. I can not set boundaries,yet. So if you,moderator,"smelled" that i feel the need to disconnect, your intuition was correct. Today we announced that "Elul" is at the turn of the corner. Its a wonderful time to rethink about our successes and failures and learn from the past in order to re-create ourselves and our future.It is in our hands and it is reachable. We were created at the image of G.od to be like Him,to be Masters and not slaves.To be servants of Him and only Him and not to worship any other power whether intrinsic or man-made; we are able to give power to many undeserving ones, like our ego , our wants and our fears. All of this are other gods created by our defects of character. By giving our lives to Hashem we can become masters of ourselves. Wishing an inspiring Elul to everybody and consequently a year of new heights in ruchniyus and gashmiyus to you all.
