Welcome

Its difficult to say the first step when we don't know what your issue is; we don't know your age; we don't know what you have been tryin'.

I think I noticed you here for a few days so that's a good step...takin' a look around at the forums and what people say and what they do.

look on the home page for the guidebook.

look in people's signatures for other links.

welcome again

your road to recovery should be blessed with hatzlachah

The best step to take is the one that moves you forward.

Whatever forward means to you and wherever you want to go. (Maybe you will share these with us)

It just needs to be a step. Pick your foot off the ground where it is right now, and move it somewhere else.

Welcome to the forums

There's a thread for how you know you've been on gye for a while.

I feel like I haven't been here long enough....I found that last post triggerin' and it had nothin' to do with what he wrote.

Warning: Spoiler!

Welcome NY!!

Great job on getting that first post out there!!

Don't be a stranger, tell us what you're here for! What have you tried?

A little thinking question, what are you here for? (it's not as klutzy as it sounds)

Keep On Posting!! KOMT!!

Hi and Welcome! Jump right in, read the handbook. I have it and many other good links in my signature. It can be overwhelming at first, but you'll find your way. Keep reading and posting.
