

Big Steps

Posted by Shlomo24 - 21 Oct 2014 17:59

i came to israel for y"t and i am staying here, im going to be going to yeshiva here also.

Why did i switch? well i came here and i was hooked up with a bunch of guys who also have ssa just like me. that is something that i never experienced in america, simply because of logistics and availability. i israel there is a whole support group of guys who are willing to reach out and connect with each other. its amazing.
hey whats up yall? im in israel now, permanently

additionally, because the gay rights group has a much smaller contingent here, many therapists openly say that they can change ssa. something that i would say is close to nonexistent in america, b/c u could lose your job from saying that, especially if the media finds out. i started going to a therapist who specializes in ssa and so far it has been awesome.

another reason is that in israel the general atmosphere is an atmosphere that is dedicated to torah and growth in yiddishkeit (at least in yerushalayim). i personally see that the level of tznius is much higher here. in america it has become normal for women to wear skirts above the knee, i am not sure who made up that garbage halacha. in israel the percentage of women who are untznus is sooooo much lower.

also, i have started going to sa in israel. what is unique is that i would say 97% of the members are frum, not just that, in fact most of them are in yeshiva/kollel and look like yeshivish guys.

basically, the feeling i am getting is an overwhelmingly positive one. with a lot of seyata deshmaya i have arrived here. i actually have to thank gye, because i would have never gone to sa if not for gye. also i made contact with someone who has ssa through gye and he was the one who gave me the original numbers of other guys that i could talk to.

but watch out, most people here will tell that lusting (even for women) aint no picnic.

I do not understand. There is nothing attractive about women. Only that getting married is duty. If already you have wife I do not understand why lust on other women? Already you have a woman

It is important to point out when something moranic is stated.

Rude.

Maybe you can understand it like this: What you just said is like saying, "You already have a chocolate bar, why do you want more candy?"

maybe I do not understand because I do not have any attractions by women. But it seems if man is married his lust will be satisfied by wife?

You're attracted to men. Do you think if you have one man you'd be satisfied? If you're like everyone else you'd probably want more once you have it.

Cords, you're being a bit harsh.

I actually do not think so.

This is a public forum and you never know who will be influenced by what.

For a fellow who is attracted to men and married to a woman and thinks about other men when he is with his wife and sees nothing wrong with that and has never been attracted to a woman and has never acted out (all his words), to tell all of us that it is absurd to lust after another woman when you are married to one, borders on the asinine. Nobody knows who he is, so he can say whatever he wants. If he is writing publicly, then be man enough to take it like a man. Wanna hide in the ocean like a submarine, then do so, but if you show your mast, the waters can get stormy.

I dont like the idea of being harsh on people. But Cords has a point. At which point do we just say "this is crazy!" If we make believe it makes sense then we are giving credence to it. I feel bad for the harshness. But, EB, I have to tell you, you are not even close to understanding your friends here. Maybe speak this out with someone.

Oh, Cords, btw, I am happily married. So there arent just single guys here

I'm sorry but that really bothers me. I agree that ehrliche.bochur is completely off track. I didn't say not to disagree I said you were being a bit harsh.

All you did was write one line calling what he wrote moronic. You didn't bother to explain why.

The forum needs to be a place where everyone feels safe stating their views. If they're going to get flamed for saying something stupid, especially by a moderator, then you're going to scare away a lot of beginners. Maybe they're not man enough to take it like a man but they're also not going to be helped.

RS, there have been posters in the past who refuse to hear the thoughts of others which contradicts theirs. Perhaps i can hear harshness there (although it most probably won't work), my impression here (which could be wrong) is rather of someone willing to (at least) hear.

only I am saying if it was halakha allow me to be married with someone I am attracted.

I would be very happy. I would not lust on others because already I would have outlet.

Starving are thankful for bread crumbs.

Is only my opinion
