WELCOME!!!!!!

Its ok, you slipped. Now move on. How can you improve? What steps could you take? Maybe start with a filter.

Welcome. Unfortunately I probably have stumbled more than you, and there is nothing more that Hashem would want than our teshuva, it's the sweetest thing for him.

Welcome,

I know your post was about Hashem and what He wants, but I'm curious: What is it that YOU want?

So what precisely is the question at hand for the present moment?

There are several options for a person who finds himself on a sinkin' boat; some of them aren't the greatest.

Based upon your previous post, I'd like to suggest that you change the title of your thread to: "Help; I feel like I'm sinkin'!"

No matter how far you've fallen, you can always do teshuva. The gemara says that even if a sword is on your neck, Hashem can still save you. How much more so here. If you couldn't do teshuva, why would Hashem keep you alive? What purpose would there be? Must be, that you can do teshuva and Hashem wants you to do your best in that pursuit. I know what it's like to look at porn. So many of us here have been there before. But we all know that we have the ability to change. As Rabbi Frand said at the siyum hashas, "it may not be presently in our grasp, but it's within our reach". Most important is to not get depressed about it. Yea, it stinks that you looked at porn. So is it therefore all over? NO!!! Get a filter or accountability program, refocus, smile, and move forward. I know you can do it! If I can, you can.

Hi there! First of all you need to focus on the present moment don't look what you did (or want to) every minute is a new opportunity to do Hashem's will, what does he want from you now? to contemplate on the smutz or go forward, get up and say Hashem I'm your creation I have sinned but I want to be better this moment I will do what's right.

Regarding Tshuvah everyone has the possibility even those who have gone far far no matter to which extent.

If you know the Gemara about Ben Durdaya who fell to the lowest of low and reached Teshuva and was then called REBBE, explains the slonim Rebbe to teach the individual to which heights we can reach with teshuvah!

Welcome

I've only been here for a few short month, so I'm not the pro to give advice

All I can say is you inspired me that you reached out and opened up right away. It took me 10 years and a lot of trouble to bring myself to open up.

You're on the right track already, just don't give up. even if you fall again don't give up. You will succeed.

Remember how precious you are to Hashem and how much he loves you and he will always be there for you. Because he needs you

Maybe, forget Tshuva for a little while and just concentrate on what you gotta do right now. The first thing is you gotta stop the destructive behavior than you can worry on making amends
