

12-Step Phone Conferences: How Much Talking?

Posted by TalmidChaim - 23 Feb 2015 02:30

Hey Guys,

I want to start doing a 12-step phone conference. I have a few questions.

Privacy is sort of hard to come by for me now, so I wouldn't be able to freely talk on the conferences, as much as I want to. People in my house would hear me, and I don't want that now. I could, however, listen in privately. Could I do this?

Thanks Again!

=====
=====

Re: 12-Step Phone Conferences: How Much Talking?

Posted by serenity - 23 Feb 2015 03:19

The proper procedure would be to say your name and say that you are not in a private space and will just be listening. Everyone on the call has to identify themselves or it's not safe for the others. That's my thought.

I find that I protect my privacy within recovery way more than when I was in my addiction. Of-course the opposite should be true.

hazlacha!

=====
=====

Re: 12-Step Phone Conferences: How Much Talking?

Posted by TalmidChaim - 23 Feb 2015 17:58

Thanks, Serenity! Yeah, I was thinking I would just introduce myself and state that I'm in a private place.

=====

=====

Re: 12-Step Phone Conferences: How Much Talking?

Posted by cordnoy - 10 Jan 2016 02:50

TalmidChaim wrote:

Thanks, Serenity! Yeah, I was thinking I would just introduce myself and state that I'm in a private place.

So, TC....have ya' done that?

=====

=====