

I'm back...

Posted by DoreshuMevakesh - 19 Aug 2015 10:28

---

Hi all,

I was on this forum a number of years ago and I have just logged back in. I had some really good streaks over the years and some bad falls. I got married since I was involved in this forum as well. Though it has been challenging...

I am back so that I can hold myself accountable for my actions and move forward on working on them and being more committed and faithful to my wife and to my life.

I am familiar with most of the tools here and I think that one of my challenges is being able to use the tools and put them to good use. So here it goes...

=====
=====

Re: I'm back...

Posted by cordnoy - 19 Aug 2015 10:50

---

Welcome back

Mazel tov

Which tools worked?

Which didn't?

Lookin forward.

B'hatzlachah

=====
=====

Re: I'm back...

Posted by gibbor120 - 19 Aug 2015 19:59

---

Welcome Back!

=====
=====

Re: I'm back...

Posted by Gevura Shebyesod - 19 Aug 2015 20:04

---

Welcome back!!

What happened to your F-16?

=====
=====

Re: I'm back...

Posted by cordnoy - 19 Aug 2015 20:18

---

Gevura Shebyesod wrote:

Welcome back!!

What happened to your F-16?

B"H, he survived; the plane did not.

A military fighter jet crashed Wednesday night near Douglas, and the status of the pilot is unknown, the 162nd Wing of the Arizona Air National Guard reported in a Facebook post.

A small brush fire that the crash sparked was extinguished by early Thursday morning.

A spokesman for the Iraqi defense minister says an Iraqi pilot who has been training in the United States for four years was flying an F-16 Fighting Falcon aircraft that crashed in southern Arizona.

Iraq's Defense Ministry and the Arizona Air National Guard didn't have information on the fate of the pilot, who was the only person aboard when the plane went down during a Wednesday night training mission.

A statement from the 162nd Wing sent around 12 p.m. on Thursday confirmed the fate of the pilot was still unknown while "rescue efforts continue(d)."

The statement also clarified that the F-16 was owned by the Iraqi Air Force.

Brig. Gen. Tahseen Ibrahim, the ministry spokesman, says the Iraqi government has not heard what caused the crash.

The F-16 Fighting Falcon aircraft, flying with the 162nd Wing, crashed at about 8 p.m. 5 miles east of Douglas Municipal Airport while on a training mission, according to a U.S. military statement.

=====
====

Re: I'm back...

Posted by serenity - 20 Aug 2015 02:21

---

Welcome back!

=====
=====

Re: I'm back...
Posted by Blind Beggar - 06 Sep 2015 20:16

---

Welcome back.

Post away.

=====
=====

Re: I'm back...
Posted by humble - 07 Sep 2015 04:16

---

welcome man! I had a similar story dropped out for a while joined live SA..... and now I'm back just didn't get married in the interim curious to know how it affected your marriage I'M still torn on the "2tell or not 2tell" question while dating (or disclosure after marriage) any personal experience?

=====
=====

Re: I'm back...
Posted by Gevura Shebyesod - 08 Sep 2015 20:15

---

Gevura Shebyesod wrote:

Welcome back!!

What happened to your F-16?

GYE - Guard Your Eyes

Generated: 23 April, 2025, 17:45

---

---

====

Looks like you found it