

New member - Colin

Posted by ColinColin - 04 Nov 2015 22:50

Hi

Am here because I want to change and beat my Yetzer Horah.

Single man.

As for avoiding masturbation, nothing has worked for me longer than 10 weeks.

I started with teenage masturbation.

Pornographic magazines.

Then internet porn.

Prostitutes.

One night stands.

Swingers sites.

I want to be healthy and find a meaningful monogamous relationship and please G-D get married one day.

My trigger is very much a deep emotional loneliness, when I feel this, then nothing stands in the way of my Yetzer Harah.

I need closeness and need to avoid that inner pain.

So I seek respite from it in ways which are sinful.

=====

Re: New member - Colin

Posted by ColinColin - 25 Mar 2017 20:12

I fell again.

I was

Angry

Lonely

Tired

all at the same time.

The key triggers though was I had visited an ex girlfriend in the week.

She has a new boyfriend, was happy and looking great.

There was no intimacy, but it stirred up a lot of feelings for her I thought I had dealt with.

After that I was really on edge and upset.

I sought comfort in the wrong way.

But, onwards and upwards...

=====

Re: New member - Colin

Posted by bb0212 - 26 Mar 2017 01:36

ColinColin wrote on 25 Mar 2017 20:12:

I fell again.

I was

Angry

Lonely

Tired

all at the same time.

The key triggers though was I had visited an ex girlfriend in the week.

She has a new boyfriend, was happy and looking great.

There was no intimacy, but it stirred up a lot of feelings for her I thought I had dealt with.

After that I was really on edge and upset.

I sought comfort in the wrong way.

But, onwards and upwards...

If the same exact situation occurred, would you be able to be in control? If yes, what would you do & at what point would you do it?

=====

====

Re: New member - Colin

Posted by ColinColin - 27 Mar 2017 00:40

I fell again.

Two days out of three.

After being clean for 52 days.

bb0212

If the same situaton occurs again?

1.) I must try to prevent such a situation happening.

2.) I really have to be stronger willed.

When I feel weak and tempted to fall...

I MUST eat, relax, and do something sociable to improve my esteem.

Low esteem is a major problem and leads to a fall for me.

=====

====

Re: New member - Colin

Posted by lhavenostrength - 27 Mar 2017 02:13

Singularity wrote on 18 Jan 2017 07:31:

This place isn't necessarily an insane asylum for degenerates who only come here for treatment and can't wait to leave. I am in the best place I've ever been in my life, BH, and I come here every day. It's about integration, being able to help, give of your own story. Think about it. Hope to see more of you.

Wow! Reading through this thread and came upon this treasure of a post. Had to be noted.

=====

Re: New member - Colin

Posted by Ihavenostrength - 27 Mar 2017 02:27

Singularity wrote on 18 Jan 2017 07:31:

ColinColin wrote on 17 Jan 2017 23:31:

I fell tonight.

I was

Hungry

Angry

Lonely

Tired

All four struck me at once.

Instead of what I did, I should have got home had a hot drink, and phoned a friend.

But in the grip of lust my mind was elsewhere.

Just have to learn that lesson, again.

May you bounce back with alacrity!

Notice how similar this post is to the one you made on 05 July 2016. Now for me, I'm ALWAYS hungry angry lonely tired... but what I'm getting at is have you tried anything different in these last six months?

If I am doing OK I tend not to log in as I am in a good place.

This place isn't necessarily an insane asylum for degenerates who only come here for treatment and can't wait to leave. I am in the best place I've ever been in my life, BH, and I come here every day. It's about integration, being able to help, give of your own story. Think about it. Hope to see more of you.

Wow, great post!

=====
=====

Re: New member - Colin

Posted by bb0212 - 27 Mar 2017 06:51

ColinColin wrote on 27 Mar 2017 00:40:

I fell again.

Two days out of three.

After being clean for 52 days.

bb0212

If the same situaton occurs again?

1.) I must try to prevent such a situation happening.

2.) I really have to be stronger willed.

When I feel weak and tempted to fall...

I MUST eat, relax, and do something sociable to improve my esteem.

Low esteem is a major problem and leads to a fall for me.

Not sure if this would help, but here goes.

Can you list all the triggers leading up to the fall?

Once you have a list, break each one down, what can you do to stop the sliding, what to distract with, how to bounce back, etc.

You can have a game plan next time, it may help.

=====
=====

Re: New member - Colin

Posted by Singularity - 27 Mar 2017 07:32

Sorry to hear of the falls.

You weren't hungry? Huh. How'd you achieve that?

methinks this HALT thing is becoming a bit too much Torah she'b'ksav.

=====

====

Re: New member - Colin

Posted by ColinColin - 27 Mar 2017 17:26

Thanks bb02012

Your advice makes sense.

It really is very much about identifying triggers and how to deal with them.

Singularity

The HALT idea makes sense to me and is strongly identifiable to my struggle.

Those are nearly always my triggers.

As for the hunger...well.....I put a bit of effort into my diet and exercise and try to eat foods which properly nourish rather than a compelling need to always eat.

=====

====

Re: New member - Colin

Posted by ColinColin - 08 Jul 2017 22:02

I fell after about 66 days clean.

A big part of the problem was that I was getting very stressed in the week leading up to the fall, but I did not realise it objectively.

I just became more and more tired, agitated, overwhelmed with life.

If I could somehow have stepped back and looked at myself from a distance, I would have recognised that a fall was likely and I could have taken some deep breaths, and put a plan into action.

Does anyone have this ability to look objectively at themselves and know when they are in danger?

=====

====

Re: New member - Colin

Posted by yiraishamaim - 09 Jul 2017 05:20

If you are routinely communicating with a partner it will inevitably be communicated.

Perhaps this is the modification you should make to your program of sobriety.

=====

====

Re: New member - Colin

Posted by ColinColin - 10 Jul 2017 19:50

Thanks yirashamaim

I do not have a romantic partner.

And I fell on Shabbat, when it would have not been correct to phone anyone.

In fact, almost irrelevant, as in the state I was in my Yetzer Hora overruled any rational objection I made to keeping sober.

I would not have contacted anyone, I was too far gone mentally, too much in the grip of lust.

That disturbs me.

A "Spirit of insanity" truly ruled me.

And what also disturbs, is that before I fell I had been clean for a while and my life was improving, and now I am very scared I will be punished for my fall by my "mazel" going on a downturn, by having bad luck.

It truly is never worth falling, it messes me up for days afterwards.

=====
=====

Re: New member - Colin

Posted by Markz - 10 Jul 2017 22:59

I am moving this repost to this thread because it belongs here

ColinColin wrote on 10 Jul 2017 20:31:

How old are you?

Do you plan to meet a woman to get married to?

It may be that you do not have such a problem.

I am not writing that acting out every night is healthy or halachic, but that if you are in your early 20's then try to find a wife.

Or two

EDIT

Since my post was misunderstood, allow me to explain

Colin, Theres nothing inappropriate about being married to 2 wives if one has rabbinic approval

It is inappropriate on a recovery website to recommend ideas which are not tried and tested

Your last 6 posts have been to the effect of "You struggle with Lust? Get married"

That's bad advice for many many guys, and that's a FACT

Please keep sharing what works for you - preferably what tools helped you pass 90+

=====

====

Re: New member - Colin

Posted by Hashem Help Me - 11 Jul 2017 03:17

ColinColin wrote on 10 Jul 2017 19:50:

Thanks yirashamaim

I do not have a romantic partner.

And I fell on Shabbat, when it would have not been correct to phone anyone.

In fact, almost irrelevant, as in the state I was in my Yetzer Hora overruled any rational objection I made to keeping sober.

I would not have contacted anyone, I was too far gone mentally, too much in the grip of lust.

That disturbs me.

A "Spirit of insanity" truly ruled me.

And what also disturbs, is that before I fell I had been clean for a while and my life was improving, and now I am very scared I will be punished for my fall by my "mazel" going on a downturn, by having bad luck.

It truly is never worth falling, it messes me up for days afterwards.

Colin, get up, shake off the dust, and move forward. Don't worry about your mazel going downwards. Hashem has great rachmonus and understands our struggles. lyh you will be matzliach.

=====

Re: New member - Colin

Posted by yiraishamaim - 11 Jul 2017 08:00

ColinColin wrote on 10 Jul 2017 19:50:

Thanks yirashamaim

I do not have a romantic partner.

And I fell on Shabbat, when it would have not been correct to phone anyone.

In fact, almost irrelevant, as in the state I was in my Yetzer Hora overruled any rational objection I made to keeping sober.

I would not have contacted anyone, I was too far gone mentally, too much in the grip of lust.

That disturbs me.

A "Spirit of insanity" truly ruled me.

And what also disturbs, is that before I fell I had been clean for a while and my life was improving, and now I am very scared I will be punished for my fall by my "mazel" going on a downturn, by having bad luck.

It truly is never worth falling, it messes me up for days afterwards.

no romantic partner? you will learn here that a release through a partner is insufficient for recovery.

How many of us are married and still act out.

couldn't call? good point - there are other coping techniques to learn a spirit of insanity ruled me - i know the zombi feeling all too well. but know in hindsight this feeling is also a great crutch - 'cause it gives an excuse - "hey just couldn't help myself" we sort want to get to the place we call- the point of no return - please note that even at that point it's almost impossible not to act out - never totally impossible. As well we are not sensitive to the drunk driver who claims "I was drunk" so I am not responsible that I hurt someone. We cannot allow ourselves to get to a similar place and say - I know am hurting myself and those around me but i had no choice- a "spirit of insanity just enveloped me and whisked me off to lust city"

=====

====