

vacation

Posted by newplace - 05 Apr 2016 22:16

Hi. It's my first posting on the forum and I was hoping for some tips for the upcoming pesach vacation. I have a blocked phone but unfiltered internet access at my home where I spend a lot of the day during vacation alone. I don't think it is so relevant to ask my parents to block the internet, among other reasons I wouldn't know how to safely explain the reason to them. Tips and ideas would be happily accepted.

=====
=====

Re: vacation

Posted by peloni almoni - 05 Apr 2016 22:25

welcome. why must you stay at home alone all day? surely there is a bais medrash, gym, chesed organization, job?, something out of the house with people?

=====
=====

Re: vacation

Posted by Workingguy - 05 Apr 2016 22:37

Hi. It's my first posting on the forum and I was hoping for some tips for the upcoming pesach vacation. I have a blocked phone but unfiltered internet access at my home where I spend a lot of the day during vacation alone. I don't think it is so relevant to ask my parents to block the internet, among other reasons I wouldn't know how to safely explain the reason to them. Tips and ideas would be happily accepted.

Are you in Yeshiva? Can you say that some Rebbi said that you should make sure that it's protected?

=====
=====

Re: vacation

Posted by Workingguy - 05 Apr 2016 22:37

Also, can you get out of the house during the day?

=====
=====

Re: vacation

Posted by eslaasos - 06 Apr 2016 03:16

When I was deep in the dirt, I was unable to suggest to anyone that I would benefit from gedarim, because to me it was an obvious giveaway that I "need" the safeguards. As I got cleaner, I became more comfortable with being open that I am don't have a problem but am being careful to stay that way.

"The Nile is a bloody river in Egypt, sweet denial is everywhere"

Not sure this is relevant to you, if not, pardon for sharing my observation on your thread.

=====
=====

Re: vacation

Posted by Shlomo24 - 06 Apr 2016 05:41

I don't know your situation, but nowadays it's very accepted to have a filter. It doesn't require you "outing" yourself.

=====
=====