

Comparing my body to others

Posted by didannotzach - 06 Apr 2016 05:26

Hi, I am 24 years old man and I am not married yet, I want to get married soon, (I am going to get straight to the point and be clear what I am going through. I don't mean in any way to use words for wrong reasons I just want my point to get across clearly, I hope it's understood) my issue is, I am very self cautious about the size of my penis and i feel that I have a very small penis, smaller than what I see my friends in the mikvah, I am worried that when I get married my wife will not be happy with my penis size and maybe my sex life will be bad and not exciting I think my penis is less than 6 inches, and I think that is small. Does any one have this issue? Or is it just me?

=====
=====

Re: Comparing my body to others

Posted by Getting married - 06 Apr 2016 18:19

I joined because I have a problem yes I say I loud and clear again there is things what its the place to say in discuss here and and there is what is not I think you can understand that

#2 no I will not leave only after this discussion is clear I will get quite back like I was i said clearly I could of take out more from his message and dismantle him but I didn't because the other chat from him and about the guy asking a kosher p... website I didn't saw it

Don't think I'm a ??????? what is screaming ??? every shabbos by the way I was in isreal a few years and I never was by a ?????? but as I saw from the chizik emails when you see something wrong you say even when people are against you

Good day

=====
=====

Re: Comparing my body to others

Posted by Shlomo24 - 07 Apr 2016 01:45

Getting married wrote on 06 Apr 2016 17:46:

I don't want to me the moderator at all but when someone can write like this on a holy site like this I don't understand how you can even talk back to him what I would do I would take him to a side and explain him nicely that he should understand why its not the place here its not a different if he thinks he is.....

The only way I would back down is getting a personal email or writing on the forum from the guard that what he did is right

Good day

Hatzloche

So why do we talk about pornography, masturbation, sexual relations? Pas Nisht!!! The word penis won't kill you. I have seen, heard, and done worse than that and I'm sure that practically everyone on this site has the same experience. Let's not pretend that we are something we are not.

Regardless, I will not be continuing this discussion because I firmly believe that it was not an issue. In my experience, many times when I had a "problem" with somebody or something else, the root of the issue was inside me.

=====
=====

Re: Comparing my body to others
Posted by mggsbms - 07 Apr 2016 11:29

Kenuas??? Where did that get in here ???

There is one simple question. Is what he wrote triggering others ? I will would let the holy warriors of this holy site decide.

Are we here to judge others? Do we want to be judged by others? Some are here for the sole purpose to be understood. Because it's the only place where they're understood.

So let's leave cliches out of this site.

=====
=====

Re: Comparing my existence to others
Posted by markz - 07 Apr 2016 12:40

mggsbms wrote:

Kenuas??? Where did that get in here ???

There is one simple question. Is what he wrote triggering others ? I will would let the holy warriors of this holy site decide.

Are we here to judge others? Do we want to be judged by others? Some are here for the sole purpose to be understood. Because it's the only place where they're understood.

So let's leave cliches out of this site.

There are many motives

Another one, a wise man said

"It may be that your sole purpose in life is simply to serve as a warning to others"

=====
=====

Re: Comparing my body to others
Posted by Crabapple18 - 08 Apr 2016 06:14

Shlomo24 wrote:

Getting married wrote:

I don't want to me the moderator at all but when someone can write like this on a holy site like this I don't understand how you can even talk back to him what I would do I would take him to a side and explain him nicely that he should understand why its not the place here its not a different if he thinks he is.....

The only way I would back down is getting a personal email or writing on the forum from the guard that what he did is right

Good day

Hatzloche

So why do we talk about pornography, masturbation, sexual relations? Pas Nisht!!! The word penis won't kill you. I have seen, heard, and done worse than that and I'm sure that practically everyone on this site has the same experience. Let's not pretend that we are something we are not.

Regardless, I will not be continuing this discussion because I firmly believe that it was not an issue. In my experience, many times when I had a "problem" with somebody or something else, the root of the issue was inside me.

In participation we avoid topics that can lead to dissection or distraction.. I not the we....explicit... May so signify by quietly raising their hand.....

I AM SILENTLY RAISING MY HAND

=====
=====

Re: Comparing my body to others
Posted by shmulyz19 - 08 Apr 2016 21:56

doingtshuva wrote on 06 Apr 2016 10:57:

didannotzach wrote on 06 Apr 2016 05:26:

Hi, I am 24 years old man and I am not married yet, I want to get married soon, (I am going to get straight to the point and be clear what I am going through. I don't mean in any way to use words for wrong reasons I just want my point to get across clearly, I hope it's understood) my issue is, I am very self cautious about the size of my penis and i feel that I have a very small penis, smaller than what I see my friends in the mikvah, I am worried that when I get married my wife will not be happy with my penis size and maybe my sex life will be bad and not exciting I think my penis is less than 6 inches, and I think that is small. Does any one have this issue? Or is it just me?

I have sent you a Pm' (private message)

What I can learn from your post is,

1. not to look at others in the Mikva.
2. not to compare myself with others.
3. to think less. You cant and wont know what your future wife likes till you'll live with her.
4. its unbelievable how we buy all the garbage they sell us about

You deserve a much better life.

Start reading the Handbook

Tshuva,I like number 1. I do not have a mikva or JCC by me. So I go to the YMCA. And I always see other kids my age. I really do not compare them to me.

But I know that when they marry, they will find happiness with their size. Same with me.

It doesn't matter. Because gentiles have sex all the time. I believe that HaShem is always testing us to see what we will do. We Jews are supposed to do mitzvos and worry about our beautiful Neshama. Not looking at who is cuter or who is bigger. Trivial matters do not matter to HaShem. He cares about what we do with our soul, and so should we.

With this I am getting off at Shabbos road. lol. Mark, see what you started with me. I use truckinology all the time now.

BEEP BEEP

=====
=====

Re: Comparing my body to others
Posted by markz - 06 May 2016 11:31

didannotzach wrote on 06 May 2016 10:16:

i have a lot of worries and insecurities about my body. specifically about the size of my private part that is used for intimacy. i am a 24 year old bochur and i want to get married but these thoughts are really scaring me and i feel that one of my body parts is small and my friends have it bigger than me and they are lucky and im the loser. and i feel im not adequate and maybe my wife wouldn't appreciate it small. but i want to get married soon. i dont know what to do.

please please any ojne let me know if you have these struggles too?

if yes , i really want to email you or contact you and discuss it and share ideas and tips and help each other.

A wife will appreciate a husband that is not obsessed about sex, which you are slightly.

viewer discretion advised

Warning: Spoiler!

If you want a great lust free marriage you can get that right here right now

Are you interested in joining us Trucking or Sailing in recovery?

Please let me know

=====
=====

Re: Comparing my body to others
Posted by inastruggle - 06 May 2016 16:10

Let's just say I've done some research on the topic in the bad old days.

- 1) The average length is a lot smaller than what you see on porn. A lot.
- 2) There is no relationship between size when flaccid and size when erect. So comparing in the mikvah is useless.
- 3) Not sure how to say it but you don't need much. 3 inches is fine.
- 4) Bear in mind that your wife will (hopefully) have no reference pont. She's not going to compare you to anyone else.

Btw, my feelings are like the kanaim here, but if the thread is staying up then I might as well put the research I've done to good use.

=====
=====

Re: Comparing my body to others
Posted by Helpmrstop22 - 06 May 2016 17:43

To answer your question.

I'm not sure how old your are. But at certain stages in life (mostly around puberty and a drop after), especially if you're not from a yeshivish background and/or exposed to secular material where they stress size matters, it's somewhat common for guys to be curious if they're up to par down below.

At my chosson shmooze the rabbi mentioned that he knows this topic is a concern for many. He said he's discussed this with urologists and explained that the size to please can be quite small (he also mentioned that almost all shapes are fine as well).

You'll be fine!

Hatzlocha

=====
=====

Re: Comparing my body to others
Posted by newaction - 08 May 2016 20:38

Didon Natzach first and foremost you did the right thing in opening up in this forum. I am no therapist but let me assure you that your worry is purely based in Goyeshe philosophy. It is true though that in Neviim we the pasuk : ??? ??? ?????? ????? ?????? ?????? ?????? is referring exactly to the point you brought. size of penis is solely important when the relationship is one of ?????.

Meaning that in a one night stand the only connection is physical. But in a relation between husband and wife the connection has to be in all levels besides the physical there must be a mental, spiritual , love and union connection. If the wife feels that her husband loves her as a person not only her body. She would not care about sizes.

Besides hopefully you will get a competent guidance before you get married and you will be more ready about the subject.

If you feel there are more topics you will like to discuss feel free to write about them. Ahh i forget when i was a young boy , the general atmosphere where i came from was that masturbation helps to enlarge it. This is complete nonsense. There is so much shtussim that boys talk and do .

You need to worry only about your personal and spiritual growth not at all about your body parts.

Hatzlacha.

=====
=====

Re: Comparing my body to others
Posted by Yosef Hatzadik - 09 May 2016 05:23

My (not-so-humble) opinion:

If this thread would have morphed into a chat concerning size etc. then it would be wholly inappropriate. But, thankfully, that did not happen here. The response he received was a gentle and loving prod toward focusing on what needs to be focused on. Therefore, not only isn't this a improper thread that should be removed, it may actually be quiet beneficial in teaching us how to think straight!!!

As to the original post, Didannotzach clearly states "I don't mean in any way to use words for wrong reasons I just want my point to get across clearly, I hope it's understood." Apparently, our friend GettingMarried did not understand it in the way that Didannotzach intended it. According to the way that he perceived the question his kano'as was well placed. As such, there is no room for anyone to get offended at all.

Mar amar chada, u'mar amar chada, v'lo pligi.

=====
=====

Re: Comparing my body to others
Posted by Shlomo24 - 09 May 2016 13:31

Wow. We are really getting an awakening from the dead here.

=====
=====

Re: i am worried about what to do
Posted by Avrohom - 11 May 2016 08:00

didannotzach wrote:

when i get married, when and who decides how many children we should have? how many times a week should we have sex? how does this all happen? and how does sex happen according to halacha? lights off? no talking?? no oral sex?

This is something that's bothered me as well. I just know that when it'll be nogeia l'maase, I'll have to make sure to get clarity, and to not hold back when I'm not sure of something. Otherwise I don't try to hard to dig into this stuff, although some more general things MIGHT be helpful for changing my attitude. There's still some anxiety some times, but i've generally been able to not focus on it so much.

=====
=====

Re: Comparing my body to others
Posted by markz - 11 May 2016 11:09

didannotzach wrote on 11 May 2016 06:04:

i am 24 and i want to get married but i am worried that i will not know how to have intimacy the proper way. im afraid my mind is full of wrong ideas and images of how intimacy is performed from the videos and images on internet. im afraid maybe my first time of intimacy by the night of my wedding will be perfromed wrong or something. am i not supposed to copy anything i saw on internet? is everything i saw bad?

or is some stuff that i did watch important to use during intimacy with my wife?

should i do oral sex or not? what should i do? what shouldn't i do? i am so confused???

should i take off all my clothes before i start intimacy or should we take off each others clothing together in bed? do we take showers first? do we turn off lights? do we talk during intercourse???

i feel the internet is confusing me and i have no idea what to do in real life and what not to do????

please help, any one my age? any one relate to me?

markz wrote on 06 Apr 2016 05:44:

Here's my tiny question

"sex life will be bad and not exciting"

How's sex life these days?

Didon

I have input to give you on the questions you asked earlier today, but remember we are here first and foremost to recover from Porn and Mast*

Which is why before we continue the conversation I kindly ask you to answer what was raised above

How has your P&M been the past 2 months?

Can I kindly request that you keep all your story on one thread (and not create many new ones), so we can help you with what's going on in your head

=====
=====