

This made me a "Failure" of a man .

Posted by SkyBird - 18 May 2016 20:10

Hi , my name's let's say SkyBird , I'm 20.5 yrs old at second year [7th semester] of college . This awful depressing addiction has literally destroyed my last two years of youth . I was top student at my school days , had great friendship with almost anyone in my class even though I had top scores no one ever bothered me, I was in good terms with anyone , I was what I wanted to be , now I'm in college being the Last guy , the weird guy , the lazy guy , Complete opposite of what I was and I want to be there was a guy I didn't like in school so I said lets give him a chance maybe he has good deeds too ,After some times which I started to be friendly with him , he talked to me about what masturbation feels like and MADE me interested too much and making it look something normal [I hate him so MUCH] .

To Make this fast it went like this

1-someone tempted me to masterbute while saying "There is no boy who doesn't masturbate" while I didn't even care about it , it bugged me and I thought maybe it's something I should do ?

2-continued this cycle , got addicted to it , found out it is really bad

3- tried but couldn't stop it solo

4- got addicted to pornography when I was entering college

5- pornography addiction has had so many negative effect on my body and mind (Like losing focus easily , memory-problems depression and) that I am literally a "Failure" now .

I WANT MY LIFE BACK , I can't stand the "Thing" I am now , I was not born to be this , I don't want to disappoint my parents , my teachers and friends and all those who had faith in me .

sorry for this long introduction I needed to say this to someone , and I think and hope this is the best place.

I'm in 90 day program and I've downloaded the book , I'm checking the programs , steps and
