Hi, I struggle in three main ways. I have some times where I can really be amazing for a week or even a little more buy I always come back to the same place, even though I definitely feel that I keep growing it kills me every time I drop again. The three areas I struggle in are 1. Looking at dirty things, 2. Looking at clean things in a dirty way and 3. The final result of masturbation. It really bothers me that I love this roller coaster type of thing. I hope I have nor bored you.

Your struggles are common. That does not make it boring.

In fact, countless others with similar challenges have been helped.

If that's not exciting - what is?
